HEAVY OPPOSITION EXPECTED

. . . Nixon Proposes $250 Million Lockheed Loan Guarantee

Washington (AP) — Against expected heavy opposition in Congress, President Nixon proposed Thursday to put the government's backing behind a $250 million loan for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and its troubled TriStar jumbo jet project.

Lockheed desperately needs the money "to keep it from going broke," Treasury Secretary John B. Connally told newsmen. And he said the economy needs a healthy Lockheed and the investment in money and jobs in the TriStar program.

Although the loan guarantee is expected to encounter trouble in Congress, Connally said he rates its chances for passage as "quite good."

"I've been very encouraged by the soundings we have taken," he said.

The administration said Lockheed needs the loan to finish production of the TriStar L1011 airbus, which fell into jeopardy when the manufacturer of the TriStar engine, Rolls-Royce Ltd., went into receivership in Britain.

It was soaring development cost of the RB211 engine that forced Rolls-Royce into receivership and threatened to tumble Lockheed. However, an agreement was reached between U.S. officials and the British government to save the project through a loan guarantee.

Connally said the British government will put up $288 million in additional funds to help produce the engine.

He said $1.4 billion already is tied up in development of the TriStar, which he called "a very excellent airplane . . . probably the most advanced today."

"The impact on the economy by the bankruptcy of Lockheed would be enormous in my judgment," Connally said.

Jobs, Revenue, Profits

Not only would thousands lose their jobs, he said, but the Treasury would lose revenue and industries directly related to the nation's biggest defense contractor would be harmed.

Connally denied that the loan guarantee proposal would set a precedent. "The govern ment has done it before. The government is doing it almost every day," he said, through export-import loans and defense loans

"I am assured that this amount is sufficient to carry Lockheed through the period of financial stress during the production of the TriStar," Connally said. "We do not anticipate any cost to the taxpayer from this loan guarantee."

Connally said banks have already put up $450 million in loans for Lockheed. In addition, he said, Lockheed suppliers have invested $350 million and airlines have advanced $240 million in progress payments in anticipation that the airbus will be built.

Lockheed Chairman Daniel J. Haughton said that although the TriStar program was adequately financed when launched, "the cash drain from about $500 million in losses on four defense programs and the delay resulting from the Rolls-Royce receivership have created the need for additional funds."

Peak Financing Needs

With the government's loan guarantee, Haughton said in a statement, the banks will provide the final $250 million credit necessary to meet Lockheed's peak financing needs.

The proposal is thought to be in trouble because of Lockheed's past difficulties with cost overruns on the C5A transport plane and other military projects. But Connally noted that the company has been forced to take a $500 million loss on various military projects.

He said the loan guarantee appears to be the only solution.

Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., a leading House critic of Lockheed's C5A, called the President's proposal "no more than a run on the national Treasury by a politically well-wired corporation."

"The taxpayers of this country deserve to be protected from such an outrage," Moorhead said.

Pressure On Dollar Eases

London (AP) — Pressure on the dollar eased slightly Thursday and European Common Market finance ministers scheduled meetings Saturday to explore ways to stem the flood of American currency that is undermining European economies.

In some places American tourists found it difficult to exchange large amounts of dollars for local currencies.

They discovered meals and taxi rides were a bit more expensive in West Germany. But in Britain, where the pound lost value in the selling wave of dollars, Americans found some items were cheaper

Revaluation Not Planned

West Germany, a key to the world crisis because of its exceptionally strong currency, does not plan to revalue the mark, government spokesman Conrad Ahlers said. He added it was unlikely the five other Common Market countries would revalue their currencies at the meeting in Brussels Saturday. "There won't be any agreement on that point," he said.

West Germany, Ahlers said, will decide on what measures it will take at a special cabinet meeting Sunday morning.

Joint Hike Discussed

Sources reported the two discussed, among other measures, a joint raising of currency values by all six Common Market members. This would maintain the parity levels of their currencies with each other and safeguard the stability of farm prices.

It also would tend to slow the dollar flow into Europe because the six currencies would be more expensive and American exports would become cheaper in terms of European money and find a readier market.

France and Italy are reported opposed to such a joint move and a unilateral upward revaluation of the German mark would throw out of balance the Common Market's delicate farm prices.

U.S. Won't Devalue

The French argue that America, for international monetary solidarity, should reduce the value of the dollar by raising the price of gold to which the dollar is pegged. Washington has refused to hike the official gold price, which now is $35 an ounce.

The British pound sterling fell from $2.42 to $2.41½.

The financial crisis triggered by the influx of billions of dollars in the past 10 days threatened disruption of the European Common Market.

The dollar crisis stems chiefly from a deficit in the U.S. balance of payments—meaning the United States is spending more abroad than it is taking in from foreign customers.

Another cause is that the high price of U.S. goods sends buyers to cheaper markets.

One effect of the run on the dollar in Europe is that some European currencies are rising in relation to the dollar, thus making European goods and vacations more expensive for Americans.

Baker Apparent Council Winner

. . . By Unofficial 22-Vote Margin

By TOM EKVALL

Havelock pharmacist W. Richard Baker has apparently won a seat on the City Council, although his margin over Richard Hansen was narrowed with the tabulation of absentee and disabled ballots Thursday.

Hansen picked up 21 more votes than Baker (121 to 100), reducing Baker's lead to 23 votes unofficially.

The official canvass of votes began Thursday and is not expected to be completed until sometime Monday.

Any significant error in counting could change the results of the City Council race for the fourth spot

Baker said he was "real happy" with the results and hoped no counting errors were made.

An unsuccessful candidate in the 1969 council election, he placed fourth with three elected in the general after nipping Kaer Vanice III by 39 votes to make the runoff

Baker was later appointed to the City Library Board and from his experience on the board, Baker said he feels he has a better understanding of governmental operation, especially in the area of budgets.

The other two new faces on the council also presently serve on city boards. Steve Cook is a member of the Planning Commission and Bob Sikyta, chairman of the Board of Zoning Appeals. All three will have to resign their board positions.

Baker, who said he spent only $1,300 on his campaign as compared to $2,500 in 1969, said he waged a vigorous door-to-door campaign the last several days

"You never know where those 22 votes came from," he said in commenting he feels that extra effort at the end must have paid off

The counting of the absentee and disabled ballots did not change the outcome of any other contests in Tuesday's election.

Baker had campaigned on strongly supporting a more restrictive zoning policy than that of the present council and creation of a housing department along with the city taking the leadership to coordinate efforts to solve the local housing problems.

Hotel And Motel Tax Tentatively Scrapped

. . . TOURISM DEPARTMENTS GET INITIAL OKAY

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

In an inconclusively tight vote, the Legislature Thursday tentatively scrapped a proposal to levy a 1% space tax on hotel and motel rentals to fund state and local tourist promotion programs.

The tax plan was stripped from LB650 on a 17-16 vote.

But a later motion to reconsider Sen. Eugene Mahoney's proposal to scuttle the tax gained 20-19 acceptance. That motion lost because at least 25 votes are needed to reconsider previous action.

The crippled bill, which now provides only for establishment of a tourist promotion fund divided on a basis of 80% state and 20% local allotments, was pushed over its first floor test on a 25-13 vote.

An effort to kill the measure failed on a 16-20 vote.

In its present form, LB661 would establish a fund with no money in it unless the Legislature transfers or appropriates dollars from the state tax supported general fund.

Okay Department

In related action, lawmakers handed 27-5 first stage approval to a bill establishing a separate Department of Tourism in state government.

That measure, LB518, would take tourist promotion activities away from the State Game and Parks Commission.

Its sponsor, Sen J. James Waldron of Callaway, said there is general agreement that tourism is "a big enough business to warrant a separate department."

Originally Transfer

Waldron's bill originally called for transfer of tourist promotion to the Department of Economic Development

The proposal was revised at Waldron's request on a 24-6 vote.

Luedtke's space tax measure was designed to fund an expanded tourist promotion budget, particularly aimed at more national advertising

'Out Of Doldrums'

The 1% tax would raise a roughly estimated $500,000 a year

Mahoney said the levy would be unfair, applying "a tax on a tax" since the sales tax is already levied on hotel and motel rentals.

But Luedtke said his bill was designed to take the pressure off sales and income tax revenue for funding of the program.

Alan Shepard Plans To Retire

Cape Kennedy (UPI) — Alan B Shepard said on the 10th anniversary of his and America's first flight into space that he was retiring from space flying and leaving future missions to younger men

Shepard, now 47, reminisced at the site of his pioneering launch and later told school children in nearby Cocoa Beach that his flight to the moon two months ago was his last. He said there were younger pilots who deserved a mission.

Heller Sees 'No Consent Of Governed Anymore'

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Author Joseph Heller, in Lincoln for an appearance at the University of Nebraska, said Thursday he believes "our government is not ruled anymore with the consent of the governed."

"There is very little we can do to influence policy," Heller told newsmen before he addressed an overflow crowd of students in the Nebraska Union ballroom.

"I don't think we're ever going to get more voice," he said of citizens' chances to have a say in governmental workings.

'Dissolve Country'

Saying he believes the nation is "too big" to be governed effectively, Heller suggested "it might be a good idea to dissolve the country" and form 50 small nations.

Heller, a novelist and playwright who achieved fame with the publication of the novel "Catch-22," entertained students for nearly two hours with selected readings from that work, his play "We Bombed in New Haven," and a new novel.

He said the new book, "Something Happened," is about half-finished. The novel is about a middle-aged New Yorker who sees himself as trapped by unhappy circumstances at every turn, Heller said.

'More Application' Now

Heller told the audience he wrote "Catch-22," now considered a modern classic antiwar novel, during the Korean War. And although it is set in the latter months of World War II, he said he believes it has "more application to the Vietnam war" than either of the other two.

The book, published in 1961, has gained wide popularity and has remained a favorite of college students.

The book is about a bombardier, Heller explained, "who has a wish" that he might "live forever or at least die trying."

Heller himself was a B-25 bombardier during World War II.

He has taught at Yale and the University of Pennsylvania and said he will be on the faculty next year at the City College of New York.

Fear Not Shameful

Reading from a passage of his best-seller in which the major character, Yossarian, admits he is not ashamed to be afraid, Heller said he is "pleased to know that more and more Americans are not ashamed to admit they are afraid of continuing this war in Asia."

And describing Yossarian's tacit approval of injustices and cruelty observed on the streets of Rome near the end of the war, Heller said the alternatives he gave his main character are similar to those faced by young men today who oppose the Vietnam war.

He noted that Yossarian chose desertion. "There is nothing negative about running away to save your life," the author said.

'More Casualties'

Earlier, Heller had told newsmen there have been 70,000 "more American casualties in Vietnam than there was in all of World War I."

He called the war "a crime" against both the Vietnamese and the American people, and he said, "It ought not be allowed to continue."

He said he hopes current antiwar demonstrations "will give Congress the backbone" to force a rapid withdrawal of U.S. troops.

West Germany Says Mark Won't Be Revalued

(c) New York Times News Service

Bonn — A spokesman for the West German government said it would not set a new, higher trading value on the deutschemark. (More on Page 1. From Paris, it was reported that the cohesion of the six-nation customs union and the economic stability of Western Europe, and perhaps the United States, is at stake as divisions within the European Common Market have complicated efforts to deal with one of the gravest monetary crises since World War II.

Total Test Ban Said Possible

Washington — It is now possible to consider a comprehensive nuclear test ban treaty prohibiting underground atomic explosions, according to Sen. Clifford P. Case. He contended that there has been a tenfold improvement in seismic detection capabilities and cited still-unpublished conclusions reached by experts last summer at a Pentagon-sponsored conference.

Gas Producers Favored

Washington — Higher prices and other incentives were established by the Federal Power Commission for Texas Gulf Coast natural gas in order to stimulate exploration for new natural gas supplies. This is the first time the FPC has given a ceiling opinion for the area, which accounts for about 18% of the gas sold there, and is retroactive to contracts since Oct. 1, 1968.

Aid Suspension Urged

Washington — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved a resolution calling for an immediate suspension of American military aid and arms sales to Pakistan until its current civil conflict is resolved and the distribution of relief supplies is resumed. The measure must now be approved by the full Senate.

Loan Guarantees Announced

Swordfish Meat Unacceptable

Washington — The American public was advised to stop eating swordfish by the Food and Drug Administration, which found only 42 of 853 samples of swordfish meat acceptable.

Protests End In Washington

Washington — Antiwar demonstrations ended atfer 18 days of militant and nonmilitant activity. The Justice Department sought to bring at least two participants, Rennie C. Davis and John R. Froines, before a grand jury on charges of conspiracy to deprive others of their rights and conspiracy to interfere with federal workers. Both were defendants in the Chicago 7 trials.

Rogers, Israelis Meet

Jerusalem — Secretary of State Rogers arrived in Jerusalem and immediately began a series of meetings with Israeli leaders. U.S. sources said he was carrying assurances from President Anwar El-Sadat that Egypt is ready to listen to any reasonable Israeli proposal to reopen the Suez Canal.

Heavy Fighting Erupts Near Snuol, Cambodia

World News

Saigon (AP) — Heavy ground fighting broke out Thursday in eastern Cambodia, ending a lull in the Indochina war.

Tank-led South Vietnamese troops, under a cover of air and artillery strikes, clashed in a daytime engagement with about 400 North Vietnamese near the town of Snuol, a few miles inside Cambodia.

Saigon headquarters claimed 72 North Vietnamese were killed and it announced that South Vietnamese losses were one dead and six wounded.

50 Claimed Dead

A South Vietnamese military spokesman, Lt. Col. Do Viet, said Vietnamese F5 Freedom Fighter jets attacked the North Vietnamese for four hours Wednesday afternoon and that air spotters afterwards counted 50 dead.

In another action Wednesday, U.S. helicopter gunships killed five enemy soldiers in an area 52 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. Cambodia's capital, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. helicopters are lending heavy support to the 22,000 South Vietnamese troops still deployed in Cambodia, flying more than 300 support missions on Wednesday alone.

Some 300 miles to the north, U.S. B52 bombers returned in force to the A Shau Valley sector.

As the war pace quickened somewhat, President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam announced a 24-hour cease-fire to mark Buddha's birthday anniversary on Sunday.

Cease Fire Set

South Vietnamese forces will hold their fire from noon Saturday until noon Sunday Saigon time and will be joined in the cease-fire by United States and other foreign troops on the allied side.

A few hours later, the Viet Cong declared a 48-hour cease-fire for the Buddha birthday. A Viet Cong broadcast said its cease-fire would run from 6 a.m. Saturday to 6 a.m. Monday.

In the past, all of the temporary truces called by each side have been marked by numerous violations.

68 Americans Killed

In Saigon, the U.S. Command released its weekly casualty summary and reported 68 American combat deaths for last week — the highest in five weeks.

The total, however, included 21 servicemen who had been listed earlier as missing, but who are now known to be dead. Similarly, last week's summary also included nine men previously listed as wounded but who subsequently died.

Of the 21 whose classification has changed from missing to dead, 13 were reported shot down in air operations over Laos.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 492 government troops killed and 1,102 wounded last week, compared with 305 killed and 838 wounded the previous week.

The allied commands reported 1,657 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops killed last week, the lowest for one week since the week ended last Jan. 30 when 789 were killed.

U.S. Tells Hanoi Delegate His Troops Must Withdraw

Paris (AP) — The United States has told Hanoi there can be no negotiations on a total American withdrawal from Vietnam without a corresponding agreement for withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces.

U.S. negotiator David K. E. Bruce challenged North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy at the 112th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks Thursday to clarify a hint he dropped last week that Hanoi might envisage a tacit understanding on mutual withdrawal of its own as well as American forces.

In reply, Thuy reverted to the long-standing Hanoi position rejecting any mutual withdrawal, tacit or otherwise.

President Nixon's "absurd demand for a 'mutual withdrawal' places the American aggressor on the same footing as the Vietnamese people fighting against aggression," Thuy said.

The meeting in effect snuffed out the faint hopes raised last week of a possible dialogue between the two sides.

Bruce expressed interest in a remark made by Thuy at the 111th session that a negotiated settlement—including the total withdrawal of American forces — would permit "all military men to return to their homes."

"If this means that you are now prepared to withdraw North Vietnamese forces from South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, then I believe we can make serious progress here toward an honorable and lasting negotiated settlement," Bruce said.

BEFORE THE SALUTE

Wholesale Price Rise Hampers Inflation Fight

Washington (AP) — Led by increased costs of industrial commodities, the rise in wholesale prices quickened in April, the government said Thursday, thus handing a setback to the Nixon administration's fight against inflation.

The Labor Department reported that its wholesale price index advanced by 0.3% last month and 0.5% on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The news was particularly bad for the White House because the key industrial commodities index, one of the best measures of inflation, increased by 0.4% Seasonally adjusted, the rise in industrial prices was even higher, 0.5%.

A spokesman for President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisors called it a bad month for wholesale prices. But he added the council does not believe it meant a "break in the pattern of improving prices."

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally told newsmen that while "I hated to see the wholesale price index go up, I don't think we should pay too much attention to it."

A Laspooryork Is A Winner

New York (UPI) — Radio Station WMCA announced Thursday that the winner of a contest for a name for New York City if it should become a separate city-state was "A Lapooryork", inspired by a line in Shakespeare's Hamlet.

'Political Hocus-Pocus' Label Put On Nixon's Ag Aid Plan

Washington (AP) — President Nixon's new aid program for farmers is merely "pre-1972 political hocus-pocus that doesn't even fool city slickers — let alone farmers," Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said Thursday.

O'Brien also accused the Nixon administration anew of misusing $100,000 of Agriculture Department funds in sponsoring a miniature county fair Friday on the White House grounds.

"No effort to bury this expenditure among the bureaus and offices of the Agriculture Department can disguise the fact that they (the funds) are being used for political purposes and that they could be put to much better use in aiding the drought-stricken farmers of the Southwest," O'Brien's statement said.

The Democratic chairman focused on Nixon's announcement last week of a $400 million program to help farmers improve incomes and exports. Loans would make up $349.4 million of the total.

$10 Billion Goal

One goal announced is to push farm exports to $10 billion a year. A record $7.4 billion is forecast this year.

Noting that Nixon's pledge of funds to various programs is "supposedly to aid farmers in improving their serious financial plight," O'Brien said, "not a dime of it would go to raise the farm parity price level, which is the lowest since the 1930s."

"Mr. Nixon pledges millions to fight fire ants, gypsy moths and cattle ticks—but not a cent to raise farm prices," he said.

'Millions Impounded'

"The President has impounded many millions of dollars in appropriations to the Department of Agriculture, including funds for loans to help rural electric cooperatives meet their rapidly growing needs.

"But he will not release them, continuing to ignore the real needs of the people of the land," O'Brien said.

Saying Nixon places great emphasis on increasing farm exports, O'Brien said "exports have increased because of the policies like the Food for Peace program — initiated by previous Democratic administrations."

"Farm exports at lower prices don't raise farm prices," he said. "They only raise the profits of the traders."

Saying Nixon talks about "the glories of the free market for agriculture when all other segments of the economy operate under administered price structures that guarantee cost-plus," O'Brien said:

"To farmers the free market has always meant the freedom to go broke — and every farmer knows it."

O'Brien said it would be appropriate for Nixon to salute the farmers on Friday if he would explain "why he called in Procter and Gamble and representatives of only one farm organization to talk farm policy in a secret White House meeting."

Brownlee Rancher Honored

A well-known Cherry County cattle rancher who was described as "one of the true leaders of today's cattle industry," Thursday night became the 33rd individual honored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Block & Bridle Club since 1938.

A portrait of Lee was presented by Block & Bridle Club president Ron Hagan of Oconto to Dr. Frank Baker, chairman of the NU Department of Animal Science. The portrait will be hung in the Block & Bridle Hall of Fame in Marvel Baker Hall on the NU East Campus.

Dr. D. C. Clanton, beef nutritionist at the University of Nebraska North Platte Station, who has conducted numerous research studies on the Lee ranch, delivered a tribute to the honoree. Clanton described Lee as "much more than a successful cattle producer," who over the years "has promoted the interest of the whole cattle industry and is still doing so very actively."

Born and raised in Cherry County, Lee has known cattle ranching all his life. He currently operates his own ranch and maintains a 500-head commercial Hereford cow herd.

He is the only man to have been president of both the Sandhills Cattle Association and the Nebraska Stock Growers Association. He also has been president of the Nebraska

Nebraska News

Livestock Breeders and Feeders Association. In 1970, Lee was appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin to the National Cattle Industry Advisory Committee.

Research Projects

Interest in the improvement of the livestock industry has led Lee into many cooperative research projects with the University of Nebraska Experiment Stations. Some of these experiments include pasturing Sandhills meadows, use of systemics for grub control and field testing calf scours vaccines.

The honoree was elected to the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural achievement in 1963 and holds the Ak-Sar-Ben Agriculture Achievement Award and the KMMJ Distinguished Agriculture Operations Award.

In 1968 Lee received the University of Nebraska Builders Award which cited him for his leadership and perception in the modern development of the Nebraska cattle industry. He is also a past member of the College of Agriculture Advisory Committee.

Within his community Lee has served as school board member, Cherry County Fair board member and Sunday school superintendent. He is also a director of the Bank of Valentine.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Block & Bridle Club cited several of its members for outstanding achievements in scholarship and contribution to the club at its annual honors banquet here Thursday night.

Ron Dvorak of Wilber and Lynn Holden of Walnut, Calif., received the two top awards offered annually by the Block & Bridle Club. Dvorak was presented the merit trophy plaque given each year by the national Block & Bridle Club to an outstanding senior of the NU student organization. He is the retiring secretary of Block & Bridle and a participant in the NU College of Agriculture Honors Program. A graduating senior, Dvorak will continue graduate studies as a research assistant at the University of Illinois.

$100 Scholarship

Miss Holden was this year's recipient of the Block & Bridle Club junior scholarship valued at $100 and awarded by the club on the basis of scholarship, contributions to the club and other university activities. The NU coed sports a grade point average of 3.79 and currently ranks number one scholastically in the junior class of NU animal science majors and fifth in the junior class of the College of Agriculture. Miss Holden is the newly elected historian for the Block & Bridle Club.

Also recognized for high scholarship was Roger Belohlavy of Crete who received the high senior scholarship award. Belohlavy, who carries a 4.128 cumulative grade average, is currently ranked number one scholastically in the senior class of the College of Agriculture. He was presented a watch by the Nebraska Livestock Breeders and Feeders Assn.

Block & Bridle faculty advisors presented the "Advisor's Award" to Ed Klima of Madrid, vice president of the club. The award is given to the club officers.

Three awards were also presented to individuals who had not served as club officers, but had contributed greatly to the organization. Keith Stuhmer of Franklin received the senior work horse award and was recognized for work done as chairman of the annual Block & Bridle Quarter Horse Show. Phyllis Bourn, Lexington, received the junior activities award; and Doug Brand, Fremont, the sophomore activities award.

Twenty-six Block & Bridle members were also cited as animal science scholars at the honors banquet.

Block & Bridle Contest Honors Go To Kubicek

Roger Kubicek of Crete swept top honors in all classes of meats judging competition during the annual University of Nebraska-Lincoln Block & Bridle judging contests, it was announced this week.

Kubicek ranked first in pork, lamb, and beef judging and beef grading en route to an overall total of 831 of a possible 900 points.

Dean Batie of Lexington was runner-up in the meats judging contest with 782 points. Runner-up in the senior division, livestock judging, was James Ferguson of Springview, with 940 points. In second place in the junior division was Loren Katt of Herman.

School Lunch Controversy Not Justified, Claims Schilz

Lyman (AP) — Controversy which began in Washington concerning the administration of the free school lunch program in Lyman, Neb., was not really justified, according to the superintendent of Lyman schools, Darrell E. Schilz.

The controversy stemmed from a letter presented to the Senate Hunger Committee, headed by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., allegedly written by Schilz to a Mexican-American man in the Scottsbluff area.

The letter told Juan Ballesterous that his children would be given free school lunches only if he would allow the school to purchase two lots of land for $300.

Schilz told reporters Wednesday that the matter had nothing to do with the government's free school lunch program, since it was the Lyman school district itself that had offered the free lunches.

He added: "We don't have anything to hide out here."

Witnesses in Washington had called the letter "the most flagrant violation" of the free school lunch program intent.

Schilz said that, contrary to reports, the family does not reside on the land in question, and neither of the Ballesteros children dropped out of school when the free lunch application was denied.

Ballesteros confirmed that both of his children were still attending school, and that his house is not located on the lots which the school had been negotiating to buy.

He said the school had offered $300 dollars for the two lots while he had demanded $400, "so we're sitting right there."

"We won't sell for $300," he added.

Schilz also said that the original application was turned down because Ballesteros was employed at the time by the Great Western Sugar Co. of Scottsbluff.

Maverick Media Purchases Syracuse Weekly Newspaper

Syracuse — The weekly Syracuse Journal-Democrat has been sold by Bud and Mary Lou Wilkins to Maverick Media, Inc., effective immediately.

Francis D. Moul, former resident of Syracuse, serves as president of the Nebraska corporation and publisher of the Journal-Democrat. Richard C. Hursey, formerly of Wayne, is corporation secretary-treasurer and new Journal-Democrat editor.

Former Professors

F. D. Moul, Hursey and Weber are all former professors at Wayne State College.

Moul, formerly on the staff for the Sioux City Journal, was director of a federally-funded economic development planning project for South Dakota in 1967. He was a Fulbright scholar to India in 1967 and was an editorial writer for the Des Moines Register before going to Wayne State in 1968.

Hursey joined the Wayne State staff in 1966 and received his Ph.D. from Ohio University the next year.

Weber, who will be in charge of the Lincoln office of Maverick Media, joined Wayne State two years ago after serving in the Peace Corps.

Maverick Media was incorporated late last year. The Journal-Democrat will serve as headquarters for the company, which will develop various publications for statewide distribution.

The newspaper will be featuring an economics column written by Dr. Wallace C. Peterson of University of Nebraska Department of Economics and a column on "Nebraska Issues," written by former Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, who have operated the paper since 1943, will continue to make their home in Syracuse.

Rains Bring Some Threat Of Flooding

By United Press International

Most Nebraska communities were recovering Thursday night from storms which dumped up to three inches of rain in some areas but the threat of flash flooding was apparent in the east-central and western portions of the state.

More light precipitation was in the forecast for southeast Nebraska and the Panhandle through Friday, but the rain was expected to diminish in other areas.

One storm poured three inches of rain five miles south of David City in east-central Nebraska. The weather service expected Wahoo Creek downstream from that community to rise to up to two feet over bankful by Friday.

Heavy rain was also reported in the Scotts Bluff County area in the west, and some flooding is expected on the North Platte River.

Residents of trailer courts in Terrytown near Scottsbluff were being asked to evacuate Thursday night.

The high flow on the North Platte has been aided by the release of water from storage reservoirs in Wyoming to make room for the spring snow melt.

Accidental Fires Are Preventable

Accidental fires can be prevented, Lincoln Fire Inspector Jerry McGinn said, if parents will take time to talk to their children about the danger of playing with matches.

He said this season of the year often brings accidental burns to youngsters, noting the second degree burns suffered by Anthony Robinson, 5, when he and a playmate, Scott Stiles, 6, played with matches and gasoline Thursday. Robinson was burned on both legs when he tried to extinguish the grass fire.

"Helping to prevent a mishap is much better than seeing a child burned to death," McGill said, "and parents can be the preventative."

Brownlee Rancher Honored

A well-known Cherry County cattle rancher who was described as "one of the true leaders of today's cattle industry," Thursday night became the 33rd individual honored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Block & Bridle Club since 1938.

A portrait of Lee was presented by Block & Bridle Club president Ron Hagan of Oconto to Dr. Frank Baker, chairman of the NU Department of Animal Science. The portrait will be hung in the Block & Bridle Hall of Fame in Marvel Baker Hall on the NU East Campus.

Dr. D. C. Clanton, beef nutritionist at the University of Nebraska North Platte Station, who has conducted numerous research studies on the Lee ranch, delivered a tribute to the honoree. Clanton described Lee as "much more than a successful cattle producer," who over the years "has promoted the interest of the whole cattle industry and is still doing so very actively."

Born and raised in Cherry County, Lee has known cattle ranching all his life. He currently operates his own ranch and maintains a 500-head commercial Hereford cow herd.

He is the only man to have been president of both the Sandhills Cattle Association and the Nebraska Stock Growers Association. He also has been president of the Nebraska

Nebraska News

Livestock Breeders and Feeders Association. In 1970, Lee was appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin to the National Cattle Industry Advisory Committee.

Research Projects

Interest in the improvement of the livestock industry has led Lee into many cooperative research projects with the University of Nebraska Experiment Stations. Some of these experiments include pasturing Sandhills meadows, use of systemics for grub control and field testing calf scours vaccines.

The honoree was elected to the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural achievement in 1963 and holds the Ak-Sar-Ben Agriculture Achievement Award and the KMMJ Distinguished Agriculture Operations Award.

In 1968 Lee received the University of Nebraska Builders Award which cited him for his leadership and perception in the modern development of the Nebraska cattle industry. He is also a past member of the College of Agriculture Advisory Committee.

Within his community Lee has served as school board member, Cherry County Fair board member and Sunday school superintendent. He is also a director of the Bank of Valentine.

Actions in the Legislature ought to tell you one thing for sure — the interests of the average citizen are not very high on the priority list. To the credit of Gov. J. J. Exon, he has expounded those average interests, even though we are in disagreement with him on some fiscal matters.

We think, and still do, that the governor's budget was too tight and that he helped create a fiscally conservative climate that has now resulted in a legislative Budget Committee budget that also is too tight.

A budget that simply keeps you going at the same rate as before just isn't enough and that is all, at best, that the recommendations of the Budget Committee will do. It is astounding that not one member of the Legislature rose to challenge the committee.

With the situation as it now stands and as it is likely to prevail, the most important single item of business for the Legislature — the state budget — is the work of nine people. It is disappointing to learn that we have a nine-member rather than a 49-member Legislature. It just doesn't seem very democratic.

But back to taxes. Killed decisively this week was a bill aimed at increasing the corporate income tax, a product of the governor's office. The corporate voices, believe me, are heard loud and clear in the Legislature.

They say we have a non-partisan Legislature. That isn't true. It is partisan — to the high spending lobby groups such as corporate spokesmen. If the corporate tax thing isn't enough to convince you. look elsewhere.

Passed yesterday by the Legislature was a bill to partially eliminate the personal property tax on business. This is a tax upon the inventories and equipment of business and agriculture. When it comes to letting big business off the tax hook, a majority of state senators are right in there pitching.

Again, Governor Exon is on the other side, against the reduction of taxes for the big money interests. And what do you think such a tax exemption will do for you? Maybe you think it will lower prices.

Don't kid yourself. If the tax is eliminated or reduced, the price of everything will remain the same and big business will pocket the millions of dollars in taxes they would otherwise have paid.

And who will make this up? You will, in a higher sales and income tax rate. So you lose in two ways and big business gains in two ways.

The governor tried to get food exempted from the sales tax. Can't be done, said the critics, because it is too complicated. Complicated, my foot! It wasn't done simply because not enough state senators give a hang about the average man who gets it in the neck with the sales tax, especially as applied against food.

Then, it is said that the governor is against the heavily burdened property taxpayer because he is against a full funding of the state-aid-to-education program. This is a program, it is said, that would give the little home-owner a break.

Well, if you want to swallow that, go ahead but you are fooling yourself. Where is the reduction in the local property tax levy as a result of the current program of state aid to education? Local property taxes, especially those for the support of primary and secondary education, are at record highs.

The idea of reducing local taxes as a result of state aid is a great idea but it just never happens. Governor Exon knows it would not happen if the state aid program were fully funded.

Only one thing would happen. Local school districts would have a lot more money to spend and the mill levy would stay the same at best or maybe even go up. But state levies would have to go up and the home-owner who pays the property tax is the same guy who pays the state sales and income tax.

When you draw the line between the average citizen and special monied interests, the governor is clearly on the side of the former and the Legislature on the side of the latter.

Wonderful Dream Of Europe's Hotels

NEW YORK — Spring fever is sneaky . . . usually it creeps up on you so gradually you don't even know you've got it until you suddenly discover the only project you can get enthusiastic about is a get-away-from-it-all jaunt to Florida.

That's the way it usually happens.

But this year I know exactly—to the very minute—when it hit me. It was yesterday morning . . . at 11 o'clock . . . in the exhaust-filled garage of New York's fanciest hotel.

There I was, jaw at half-mast, listening to the incredulous story of a sheepish attendant who was trying to explain how it happened that my car keys had made it to Miami ahead of me.

Against million-to-one odds (he kept saying that), my keys had somehow gotten mixed up with those belonging to Mrs. Schultz, who was at that moment driving more or less merrily to Florida. After phoning in fuming complaint that the hotel had sent her off with the wrong keys.

My keys, as it turned out. And not only the ignition key, but also the ones that unlocked the car trunk, the house, the garage, and all my luggage.

That's when the fever hit . . . summoning up delicious daydrems of all the great hotels of Europe, where things like this aren't allowed to happen.

I have yet to set foot in any of them, you understand. But I have my spies, and they tell me I haven't lived until I've been cosseted and coddled in a foreign hotel. Right now I couldn't be more willing.

I have this little list, see, and one of these days I'll be off to Paris, where I plan to introduce myself to a gentleman named Charles Ritz.

Mr. Ritz is going on 80 and is the son of the founder of The Ritz. But the reason I want to meet him is that he runs his elegant hotel on one theory: "Personal attention to the guest is everything."

Mr. Ritz checks you out before you even check in. Whatever your special needs — from hot towels to private servants — he tries to have them ready before you can even ask.

And that's only the beginning. Mr. Ritz also sends each guest a bottle of French champagne the day he arrives . . . and makes sure there are fresh-cut flowers in every room. Every day.

Would a man like that lose your car keys??

Then, if I should ever find myself in Rome, I want to meet Natale Rusconi, manager of the Grand Hotel, and a man who appreciates the effect marble fountains, crystal chandeliers and old European elegance have on us peasants.

Once you've stayed at the Grand Hotel you're entitled to join Queen Elizabeth and Princess Grace in Mr. Rusconi's private card file. This is how he keeps track of what makes you a happy guest (one man, 'tis rumored, insists on brand-new sheets every day). And — more importantly — what doesn't?

He even lets you pick the color of your room — and if you don't like the furniture, he'll change it. With a cheerful smile.

They, if I have any time (or money) left, I'll drop in on the Palace in Lucerne, Claridge's or the Savoy in London, and the Grand Bretagne in Athens. I mean, spring fever doesn't last forever, you know, and as long as I'm having this lovely daydream . . .

Senators Hear Pull-Out Plea

The anti-war crowd that gathered on the north steps of the capitol building Wednesday should be noted for something more than its decorum, although it will generally be appreciated that the 2,500 or so protesters were well-behaved.

The size of the crowd, meeting a year after the Kent State and Jackson State killings to continue the call for a quick withdrawal from Vietnam, was significant, but that will probably be lost on the Legislature, which earlier had rejected Sen. John DeCamp's resolution which would have urged Congress to end funds for the American war effort and withdraw all troops by next April. The rally Wednesday was a sort of public hearing on that resolution. But it is doubtful that the resolution, if brought up again, would meet with a much better fate than the previous action. We commend, however, those senators who participated in the public hearing. It is important that such a critical viewpoint and vital segment of society be heard.

The Legislature took care of a couple of things inside the Statehouse Wednesday that deserve comment.

The Appropriations Committee recommended the approval of $50,000 for preliminary planning for the construction of a new College of Law building on the University of Nebraska's Lincoln campus. The proposed new law college would cost an estimated $3 million. It is a long way from planning money to finished product, but the first step has been taken.

The Legislature Wednesday also endorsed the nomination of former State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil as Nebraska's ombudsman, or public counsel. McNeil will be the man to whom citizens turn when they have a gripe about a state executive agency, but by law he cannot act on complaints against the Legislature, the judicial branch or the governor and his immediate staff. McNeil is the state's first ombudsman and Nebraska is believed to be only the second state to establish the position by law, so he finds himself in a rather interesting position in that there are few guidelines to go by. McNeil will have to play it by ear and we wish him well.

A Logical Development

It may or may not be good zoning, but the change to highway service use of land east of the Waverly interchange on Interstate 80 is a logical development. Plans call for utilization of the area in a fashion typical of that for serving the highway — traveling public.

The land, of course, is ideally situated for such a development and it is the kind of thing that one finds at most interchanges on the Interstate across the country. The peculiar thing is that there has not been more such development in the Lincoln area.

It is unusual that this Waverly land was not developed a long time ago. And from the traveler's point of view, it will be a good thing.

Anyone getting off of the Waverly interchange today might well wonder where he is. The truth is that there is practically no service in the area. A traveler has to proceed to the Highway 6 area north of Havelock before finding the motels, restaurants and service stations he might want.

The Waverly interchange is billed as a Lincoln interchange but the traveler would never know it from appearances. The area is now nothing but plowed ground and the traveler might well pass it up as a place to stop.

Virtuaaly the same thing applies to the second next Lincoln interchange going west, the 9th and 10th St. pair. Get off the interchange there and you will find nothing but a public camping site. If you are not a camper, you are out of luck for other services.

In our opinion, Lincoln offers less service to the traveler than just about any city we know of. If you are a native and know your way around, the service is there but we certainly have not utilized the Interstate as other areas have done. The Waverly interchange development will be a welcome change of pattern.

JAMES RESTON

People Demonstrate Weariness With Violence By Ignoring Those Who Gathered In Capital

WASHINGTON — What the latest spring madness in Washington proves, if anything, is that the people are sick of violence — the violence of the war and the mob action of the anti-war demonstrators as well.

It is easy to sympathize with the protests of the pathetic rabble that came here this week, most of whom were 10 or 11 years old when the United States got into the Vietnam war, but even this increasingly war-weary capital was against them.

If the people had been with them, all they would have had to do was drive their cars onto the bridges and into the other bottlenecks of the city's innumerable circles and abandon them there. Maj. Pierre Charles L'enfant designed this capital for traffic jams, and a sullen population, determined to paralyze transportation, could have blocked it stiff.

But this is not the mood of the people here. They are not militant but sad, and most of them love this city, especially when it is flowering in the spring. They do not want to see it humiliated any more than it has been in the last few years, so they went to work through the barricades and ignored the demonstrators as much as they could.

Besides, the cops were much more professional this time, and the young men and women far less militant than they look on television and in the newspaper pictures. This is not a revolutionary movement, in any accurate sense of those words. Their most desperate and aggressive leaders have been jailed or broken down, and what is left is a disillusioned collection of roving bands, without enough public support to shut down anything more vigilant than a university.

It is still possible, of course, that in the desperation of their failure, a few of them can still create some ghastly incident, but the ingredients for a mass uprising against the government — blazing anger, cadres of skilled, well-armed guerrilla leaders, and popular support for spectacular violence — are simply not present.

Last week, there was something infinitely ironic and melancholy in the public witness of the Veterans Against the War; but this week the mob was disorganized by one sudden push by the police, and it never regained its unity or poise.

As an instrument of propaganda, this kind of mass protest is still effective in giving the impression abroad that the United States is on the verge of anarchy. The reports of the television clips and newspaper photographs in European and Asian cities are troubling, not because they convey the truth, but because they distort the truth.

Even in his country, the pictures of this week's demonstrations, focusing on the landing of helicopters, and the struggles around the police vans, tend to make the confrontations seem much more massive and menacing than they actually were, and this sort of thing inevitably arouses opposition to the entire anti-war movement.

The saddest characters in the capital now, outside the kids with cracked ribs and skulls, are the more moderate political leaders who have been working for a political settlement of the war by the end of the year.

They feel that, for the moment, they have lost control of the anti-war movement, and are already being condemned by some of their constituents, as if they were to blame for demonstrations many of them actually opposed.

Attorney General Mitchell watched the demonstrations, and was personally involved in directing the defense of the capital. Also, much has been learned since the tragedy at Kent State a year ago about how to handle the demonstrators. Sometimes this leads to rough police action, as was the case in many incidents here this week, but at least the risk of sniping and police gunfire was substantially reduced.

What has not been reduced, however, is the gap between the administration's war policy and the anti-war sentiment of the rising generation. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that the people of this city, while not sympathetic to mob action to shut down the government, are still fundamentally against the war and the present pace of withdrawal from the conflict.

President Nixon may have gained some flexibility as a result of this week's struggles, but the longing here is overwhelmingly for peace abroad and a little quiet at home.

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Independent Communist

BUCHAREST — One of the charter members of a small exclusive club, "For Nixon Before '68," is the president and secretary general of the communist party of this Eastern bloc country. Nicolae Ceausescu, a wily political operator, has demonstrated the courage of his convictions. As a dissenter in the communist world, he has stood up to the frowns of the Soviet Union, Romania's powerful neighbor on the east.

Shortly before the Congress of World Communist Parties in Moscow at the end of March, reports circulated that Ceausescu meant to return to the fold and be a good boy. He led his delegation to Moscow and on April 4 delivered a 20-minute speech which in length, in the tradition of communist oratory, is equivalent to clearing your throat.

In that speech he repeated all he had said before about not meddling in the affairs of other countries. It was the same declaration of independence that after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia threatened an invitation to a similar disaster.

In that fateful summer of 1968, when so many plans were dashed by Russian tanks rumbling through the streets of Prague, Ceausescu denounced the invasion in speeches throughout Romania. It was a chancy thing to do since there were many who believed the Soviet colossus might very well turn next on Bucharest and throw out the dissenters.

Ceausescu spoke out first in 1965 when the quarrel between the Soviet Union and Communist China began to break. He contended that each communist state should have the right to chart its own course and choose its own brand of communism. This meant a closer relationship with Peking and the beginning of a cooling off with Moscow.

That was capped by what happened in 1969. Ceausescu invited President Nixon to visit Bucharest. Two years before, when Nixon was in Eastern Europe on a world tour calculated to build up his stature as a statesman, he got the frigid treatment in one communist capital after another. This seemed to be on signal from Moscow where every door was closed.

But Ceausescu received Nixon and the two shrewd politicians laid the groundwork for a continuing relationship. It was the first time since the end of World War II that an American president had paid an official visit to Eastern Europe.

Just prior to the Nixon visit, Leonid Brezhnev, secretary general of the Soviet communist party, rated No. 1 in the hierarchy, had been scheduled to come to Bucharest to sign a treaty of trade and friendship. Brezhnev never came. It was not until early July of 1970 that Premier Alexei Kosygin showed up for the singing. And a little later Ceausescu paid a return visit to Washington, the films of which were widely shown on Romanian television.

The Ceausescu government continues to keep the door to the West open. Pan American Airways has just inaugurated a twice-weekly flight to Bucharest and an NBC television crew is traveling about the country filming various aspects of Romanian life for the "Today" program.

The significant change has come in the shift of Romania's trade. In 1965 about 80 per cent was with Eastern bloc countries, 20 per cent with the rest of the world. In 1970 this shifted to 54 per cent with the bloc, and 46 per cent with the outside world.

Firsthand observers credit Ceausescu with being hard-working, austere, and determined to build an advanced industry in a country which has been largely agricultural.

Anticipating joint capital investment with the West; American and West-German — Romania recognized West Germany in 1967 — the hope is to build up in electronics, computerization and other fields. Seeking membership in the General Agreements on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) the next step would be entry into the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

But the road ahead is long and hard. With tight controls fixed to channel development into industry, consumer goods here are scarcer than in other East European capitals. Prices are high and the average worker's wage of $100 a month covers little beyond bare necessities.

In the May Day parade are all the trappings of a communist state — the long lines of marchers with red banners, the young pioneers, the huge pictures of the founding fathers, Marx and Lenin, the bands blaring "The Internationale." Yet there is a difference with a liberalized regime that abjures political trials and even allows some measure of dissent.

Fish And Flower

Lincoln, Neb.

I am a flower. I live in the park. Here I am, standing in garbage up to my neck. Well, I'm here to talk to you about pollution. Pollution is everywhere. Take today, for example. I was standing in the park, minding my own business, when all of a sudden this man comes and dumps his garbage on me Every morning I wake up to the sweet smell of carbon monoxide. Three times a day, I take a drink of hot soapy water.

It's not like it used to be. Let's go back to when I was a baby. Then there were blue skies with big white fluffy clouds and nice clean ponds, lakes, rivers, streams and most of all, clean parks. Today there might be blue skies but the only clouds are pollution clouds. And the streams are really bad. They have garbage in them. I will let you talk to my friend, Mr. Fish.

"Thank you. Ugh! My throat is still sore from the polluted water in our pond. I live in the park pond, and boy, is it dirty! The water is hot because the factory across the street lets its water in our pond and people throw garbage in our pond. Some people throw it on the ground, but it blows in."

I'm sorry to interrupt but our time is up, so Mr. Fish and I would like to say one thing — please don't pollute our environment!

Heat Turned On

Blair, Neb.

Some would place Governor Exon in a bad light because of two recent actions by the Unicameral in overriding chief executive vetoes. The Unicameral and certain special interest groups would explain the governor's vetoes as "political expediency," thwarted will, and as the governor's trying too hard to fulfill promises he never should have made in his election race, etc.

I think the answers are much more simple than these. The governor has been doing everything within his somewhat limited legislative power to represent all the people of Nebraska, as he did promise he would do, in slowing down state government spending.

This Legislature, coming up with a majority opinion of the individual members in it, is resisting the efforts of the governor and the vast majority of Nebraskans he is representing, on both spending and taxing. This Legislature is as purely political or even more so than any partisan elected governing body. The heat is always on the politics and party of the chief executive.

Someone asked where he could go for help for his drug problem. I'm sure if anyone has a drug problem or an alcoholic problem, the City Mission will be glad to help. Pastor Jerry Dunn speaks Sunday mornings on Channel 3 about these things at 8:30 a.m.

The writer will be glad to know, too, that the old part of Lincoln General Hospital is going to be an alcoholic as well as drug rehabilitation center. He might also get help at the Lincoln Center Building, Room 217.

Let's ask God to help us, too, to a better life. Dust off the Bible and open it up and start studying it and praying for help to understand God's plan for our lives.

If we put God first in our lives, we will soon be helping others to a better life, too, and our own lives will thus be enriched.

Prisoner Hess

Lincoln, Neb.

On May 10, 1941, a high-ranking German official, Rudolf Hess, risked his life and career by flying alone, without Hitler's knowledge, to England in a last-minute, desperate attempt to prevent World War II. Hess realized that the German government did not want to combat England, and hence did not want war with America, either.

Today, nearly 30 years later, he still sits in Spandau prison, the only prisoner in the whole complex. America, France and England all desire his release. The United States has brought the matter up on the ambassador level with the Soviet Union, but the Reds remain firm, and without their approval, Hess should — according to a legalistic technicality — not be freed.

Unless the public supports the government, it will not take unilateral action to free Hess.

It may or may not be good zoning, but the change to highway service use of land east of the Waverly interchange on Interstate 80 is a logical development. Plans call for utilization of the area in a fashion typical of that for serving the highway — traveling public.

The land, of course, is ideally situated for such a development and it is the kind of thing that one finds at most interchanges on the Interstate across the country. The peculiar thing is that there has not been more such development in the Lincoln area.

It is unusual that this Waverly land was not developed a long time ago. And from the traveler's point of view, it will be a good thing.

Anyone getting off of the Waverly interchange today might well wonder where he is. The truth is that there is practically no service in the area. A traveler has to proceed to the Highway 6 area north of Havelock before finding the motels, restaurants and service stations he might want.

The Waverly interchange is billed as a Lincoln interchange but the traveler would never know it from appearances. The area is now nothing but plowed ground and the traveler might well pass it up as a place to stop.

Virtuaaly the same thing applies to the second next Lincoln interchange going west, the 9th and 10th St. pair. Get off the interchange there and you will find nothing but a public camping site. If you are not a camper, you are out of luck for other services.

In our opinion, Lincoln offers less service to the traveler than just about any city we know of. If you are a native and know your way around, the service is there but we certainly have not utilized the Interstate as other areas have done. The Waverly interchange development will be a welcome change of pattern.

People Demonstrate Weariness With Violence By Ignoring Those Who Gathered In Capital

WASHINGTON — What the latest spring madness in Washington proves, if anything, is that the people are sick of violence — the violence of the war and the mob action of the anti-war demonstrators as well.

It is easy to sympathize with the protests of the pathetic rabble that came here this week, most of whom were 10 or 11 years old when the United States got into the Vietnam war, but even this increasingly war-weary capital was against them.

If the people had been with them, all they would have had to do was drive their cars onto the bridges and into the other bottlenecks of the city's innumerable circles and abandon them there. Maj. Pierre Charles L'enfant designed this capital for traffic jams, and a sullen population, determined to paralyze transportation, could have blocked it stiff.

But this is not the mood of the people here. They are not militant but sad, and most of them love this city, especially when it is flowering in the spring. They do not want to see it humiliated any more than it has been in the last few years, so they went to work through the barricades and ignored the demonstrators as much as they could.

Besides, the cops were much more professional this time, and the young men and women far less militant than they look on television and in the newspaper pictures. This is not a revolutionary movement, in any accurate sense of those words. Their most desperate and aggressive leaders have been jailed or broken down, and what is left is a disillusioned collection of roving bands, without enough public support to shut down anything more vigilant than a university.

It is still possible, of course, that in the desperation of their failure, a few of them can still create some ghastly incident, but the ingredients for a mass uprising against the government — blazing anger, cadres of skilled, well-armed guerrilla leaders, and popular support for spectacular violence — are simply not present.

Last week, there was something infinitely ironic and melancholy in the public witness of the Veterans Against the War; but this week the mob was disorganized by one sudden push by the police, and it never regained its unity or poise.

As an instrument of propaganda, this kind of mass protest is still effective in giving the impression abroad that the United States is on the verge of anarchy. The reports of the television clips and newspaper photographs in European and Asian cities are troubling, not because they convey the truth, but because they distort the truth.

Even in his country, the pictures of this week's demonstrations, focusing on the landing of helicopters, and the struggles around the police vans, tend to make the confrontations seem much more massive and menacing than they actually were, and this sort of thing inevitably arouses opposition to the entire anti-war movement.

The saddest characters in the capital now, outside the kids with cracked ribs and skulls, are the more moderate political leaders who have been working for a political settlement of the war by the end of the year.

They feel that, for the moment, they have lost control of the anti-war movement, and are already being condemned by some of their constituents, as if they were to blame for demonstrations many of them actually opposed.

Attorney General Mitchell watched the demonstrations, and was personally involved in directing the defense of the capital. Also, much has been learned since the tragedy at Kent State a year ago about how to handle the demonstrators. Sometimes this leads to rough police action, as was the case in many incidents here this week, but at least the risk of sniping and police gunfire was substantially reduced.

What has not been reduced, however, is the gap between the administration's war policy and the anti-war sentiment of the rising generation. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that the people of this city, while not sympathetic to mob action to shut down the government, are still fundamentally against the war and the present pace of withdrawal from the conflict.

President Nixon may have gained some flexibility as a result of this week's struggles, but the longing here is overwhelmingly for peace abroad and a little quiet at home.

MARQUIS CHILDS

The Independent Communist

BUCHAREST — One of the charter members of a small exclusive club, "For Nixon Before '68," is the president and secretary general of the communist party of this Eastern bloc country. Nicolae Ceausescu, a wily political operator, has demonstrated the courage of his convictions. As a dissenter in the communist world, he has stood up to the frowns of the Soviet Union, Romania's powerful neighbor on the east.

Shortly before the Congress of World Communist Parties in Moscow at the end of March, reports circulated that Ceausescu meant to return to the fold and be a good boy. He led his delegation to Moscow and on April 4 delivered a 20-minute speech which in length, in the tradition of communist oratory, is equivalent to clearing your throat.

In that speech he repeated all he had said before about not meddling in the affairs of other countries. It was the same declaration of independence that after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia threatened an invitation to a similar disaster.

In that fateful summer of 1968, when so many plans were dashed by Russian tanks rumbling through the streets of Prague, Ceausescu denounced the invasion in speeches throughout Romania. It was a chancy thing to do since there were many who believed the Soviet colossus might very well turn next on Bucharest and throw out the dissenters.

Ceausescu spoke out first in 1965 when the quarrel between the Soviet Union and Communist China began to break. He contended that each communist state should have the right to chart its own course and choose its own brand of communism. This meant a closer relationship with Peking and the beginning of a cooling off with Moscow.

That was capped by what happened in 1969. Ceausescu invited President Nixon to visit Bucharest. Two years before, when Nixon was in Eastern Europe on a world tour calculated to build up his stature as a statesman, he got the frigid treatment in one communist capital after another. This seemed to be on signal from Moscow where every door was closed.

But Ceausescu received Nixon and the two shrewd politicians laid the groundwork for a continuing relationship. It was the first time since the end of World War II that an American president had paid an official visit to Eastern Europe.

Just prior to the Nixon visit, Leonid Brezhnev, secretary general of the Soviet communist party, rated No. 1 in the hierarchy, had been scheduled to come to Bucharest to sign a treaty of trade and friendship. Brezhnev never came. It was not until early July of 1970 that Premier Alexei Kosygin showed up for the singing. And a little later Ceausescu paid a return visit to Washington, the films of which were widely shown on Romanian television.

The Ceausescu government continues to keep the door to the West open. Pan American Airways has just inaugurated a twice-weekly flight to Bucharest and an NBC television crew is traveling about the country filming various aspects of Romanian life for the "Today" program.

The significant change has come in the shift of Romania's trade. In 1965 about 80 per cent was with Eastern bloc countries, 20 per cent with the rest of the world. In 1970 this shifted to 54 per cent with the bloc, and 46 per cent with the outside world.

Firsthand observers credit Ceausescu with being hard-working, austere, and determined to build an advanced industry in a country which has been largely agricultural.

Anticipating joint capital investment with the West; American and West-German — Romania recognized West Germany in 1967 — the hope is to build up in electronics, computerization and other fields. Seeking membership in the General Agreements on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) the next step would be entry into the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

But the road ahead is long and hard. With tight controls fixed to channel development into industry, consumer goods here are scarcer than in other East European capitals. Prices are high and the average worker's wage of $100 a month covers little beyond bare necessities.

In the May Day parade are all the trappings of a communist state — the long lines of marchers with red banners, the young pioneers, the huge pictures of the founding fathers, Marx and Lenin, the bands blaring "The Internationale." Yet there is a difference with a liberalized regime that abjures political trials and even allows some measure of dissent.

Fish And Flower

Lincoln, Neb.

I am a flower. I live in the park. Here I am, standing in garbage up to my neck. Well, I'm here to talk to you about pollution. Pollution is everywhere. Take today, for example. I was standing in the park, minding my own business, when all of a sudden this man comes and dumps his garbage on me. Every morning I wake up to the sweet smell of carbon monoxide. Three times a day, I take a drink of hot soapy water.

It's not like it used to be. Let's go back to when I was a baby. Then there were blue skies with big white fluffy clouds and nice clean ponds, lakes, rivers, streams and most of all, clean parks. Today there might be blue skies but the only clouds are pollution clouds. And the streams are really bad. They have garbage in them. I will let you talk to my friend, Mr. Fish.

"Thank you. Ugh! My throat is still sore from the polluted water in our pond. I live in the park pond, and boy, is it dirty! The water is hot because the factory across the street lets its water in our pond and people throw garbage in our pond. Some people throw it on the ground, but it blows in."

I'm sorry to interrupt but our time is up, so Mr. Fish and I would like to say one thing — please don't pollute our environment!

Heat Turned On

Blair, Neb.

Some would place Governor Exon in a bad light because of two recent actions by the Unicameral in overriding chief executive vetoes. The Unicameral and certain special interest groups would explain the governor's vetoes as "political expediency," thwarted will, and as the governor's trying too hard to fulfill promises he never should have made in his election race, etc.

I think the answers are much more simple than these. The governor has been doing everything within his somewhat limited legislative power to represent all the people of Nebraska, as he did promise he would do, in slowing down state government spending.

This Legislature, coming up with a majority opinion of the individual members in it, is resisting the efforts of the governor and the vast majority of Nebraskans he is representing, on both spending and taxing. This Legislature is as purely political or even more so than any partisan elected governing body. The heat is always on the politics and party of the chief executive.

Help Offered

Lincoln, Neb.

Someone asked where he could go for help for his drug problem. I'm sure if anyone has a drug problem or an alcoholic problem, the City Mission will be glad to help. Pastor Jerry Dunn speaks Sunday mornings on Channel 3 about these things at 8:30 a.m.

The writer will be glad to know, too, that the old part of Lincoln General Hospital is going to be an alcoholic as well as drug rehabilitation center. He might also get help at the Lincoln Center Building, Room 217.

Let's ask God to help us, too, to a better life. Dust off the Bible and open it up and start studying it and praying for help to understand God's plan for our lives.

If we put God first in our lives, we will soon be helping others to a better life, too, and our own lives will thus be enriched.

Prisoner Hess

Lincoln, Neb.

On May 10, 1941, a high-ranking German official, Rudolf Hess, risked his life and career by flying alone, without Hitler's knowledge, to England in a last-minute, desperate attempt to prevent World War II. Hess realized that the German government did not want to combat England, and hence did not want war with America, either.

Today, nearly 30 years later, he still sits in Spandau prison, the only prisoner in the whole complex. America, France and England all desire his release. The United States has brought the matter up on the ambassador level with the Soviet Union, but the Reds remain firm, and without their approval, Hess should — according to a legalistic technicality — not be freed.

Unless the public supports the government, it will not take unilateral action to free Hess.

Varner Suggests 'New Thrust In Arts'

By CONNIE GILLISPIE
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska Chancellor D. B. Varner said Thursday that NU should "move with courage and imagination" to "develop a vigorous new thrust in the arts" for all Nebraskans.

"I shall not be content until this university moves to a central role in making available the best of the arts to the communities of this state," Varner said.

He made this remark at the dedication ceremony of the Kimball Recital Hall on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus.

'Pioneers' Vision'

Varner explained that in 1869, when the Nebraska Legislature created the University of Nebraska, "those hardy pioneers . . . had the vision—the insight—the courage to declare as the mission of this university . . . 'to afford the inhabitants of this state the means of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the various branches of literature, science and the arts.' "

He pointed out the word "inhabitants" appeared instead of students or youth.

He added that "somehow we have not developed the sense of priority about the arts that we have applied to the material aspects of life,' saying that NU has "not quite" devoted itself to granting a "full partnership" to the arts.

But "there is some evidence that a new mood is growing throughout the country, a new appreciation for beauty and form and color and quality," showing a "concern about the environment and ecology" and a "growing interest in art and architecture and the recognition of the value of music and theater and dance."

Endowment For Arts

"The most dramatic evidence is the action of our own Congress in creating, at last, the National Endowment for the Arts — a belated recognition that the arts, too, are an integral part of society's well-being and that the government has a long neglected but essential and proper role in supporting art," he said.

The $968,000 recital building — financed by $671,000 from state funds and $297,000 from federal sources — is evidence of this interest.

Varner said that "aginsa this background it may now be the proper time for this university to reappraise its role in the arts and to take a look at its own unfinished work."

"It would be my hope . . . that we not only emphasize artistic attainment on this campus but that we make it available to the people of Nebraska as we have done in other fields for so long," suggesting symphony, university opera and chorus and theatre tours across the state.

Praise Recalled

He recalled a comment made to him by Robert Shaw, conductor for the evening's performance of Poulenc's Gloria:

"In his own words — and there is no more qualified choral evaluator alive today —Robert Shaw said that the University of Nebraska chorus must rank with the top half-dozen such groups in America. They are ours — they belong to Nebraska — and they, as well as the football team, should be a source of visible pride for all of us."

Varner said "it is not enough to acquire material wealth, not enough to add to our physical possessions . . . the qualities of harmony and sound and sight and beauty — beauty with its own discipline — these, too. must be nurtured."

In dedication ceremonies, the late Willard Kimball's son, George P. Kimball, was introduced and George H. Kimball, his son, a music critic for the Times-Union newspaper in Rochester, N.Y., helped Regents President Robert Raun unveil a memorial portrait of Willard Kimball.

Dedication Concert Exciting

RICHARD GRACE

Adjectives of a superlative nature would best describe the opening Dedication Concert of Kimball Hall at the University of Nebraska Lincoln campus Thursday night.

Following the dedication ceremonies which included a dedicatory address by Chancellor Durwood B. Varner the University Orchestra and University Singers presented an exciting performance of Poulenc's "Gloria" under the excellent tutelage of Robert Shaw, the director of the Robert Shaw Chorale and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

The "Gloria" is a stunningly beautiful composition that definitely belongs among the great choral works of the 20th century. It is somewhat electric in nature defying categorizing or representation in a well-defined period of choral writing

It is divided into six contrasting sections in which Poulenc apportions his musical moments with exquisite lyricism to driving rhythmic sections that reminds one of the German composer, Carl Orff.

Miss Charlotte Bumgarner, soprano soloist and a junior at the University School of Music was completely professional in her performance. A student of Prof. John Zei she displayed a clear, ringing quality totally equal to the demands of a difficult and versatile solo that required a complete voice capable of both piano and forte vocal control throughout the entire soprano voice.

Robert Shaw's direction of the large ensemble was masterful. He was in complete control of a group of young but talented musicians who were not accustomed to his conducting.

He is a perfectionist in every detail and was successful in producing the more subtle directions of Poulenc through the singers and the orchestra He was openly appreciative of the many hours of meticulous care that Prof. Emanuel Wishnow, director of the University Orchestra, and Prof Earl Jenkins, director of the University Singers had spent in preparing the two outstanding groups for his two day visit on campus.

The acoustics at Kimball Hall are excellent. The music is easily audible and it generally enhances the musical qualities of both instruments and voices.

The University of Nebraska and the city of Lincoln can indeed be proud of this new structure The remaining concerts of this dedication series are sold out but there will be some standing room only tickets sold at the door

Douglas County Bill Advanced

The Legislature gave first round approval Thursday to a bill which would require the Douglas County commissioners to be nominated by the primary election by districts and elected at large.

The vote was 25-4 to send the bill (LB612) over its first floor hurdle. It is chiefly sponsored by Sen. William Skarda of Omaha.

Total Area Employment Climbs 600

Total employment in the Lincoln area rose to 80,000 workers during March, an increase of 600 over February, according to a report from the Nebraska Department of Labor.

Temperate weather has allowed the start of spring work in agriculture, the report said, bringing with it an increase in farm employment of 100 workers.

Nonagricultural wage and salary workers showed a 450 increase and "all other nonagricultural" employment advanced 50 workers during March.

Employment over the yearly period. March 1970 to March 1971, gained 1,300 workers, the report said. Agricultural employment dropped 100, nonagricultural wage and salary employment gained 1,150 and "all other nonagricultural" employment rose 250. Manufacturing slipped back 100, while construction declined by 350 workers and trade fell by 150 workers during the yearly period

Finance, insurance, real estate and services showed a gain of 600, while government increased 1,150 workers since March 1970.

The total number of unemployed workers declined 50 from February to March, according to the report. For the yearly period, unemployment rose 1,500. The number of unemployed workers for March stands at 3,750 or 4.5% of the total work force. This compares with a 4.5% unemployment figure for February and a 2.8% figure for March 1970.

ROBERT SHAW

Shaw Hears 'New Life Buzzing'

Robert Shaw, in Lincoln to conduct the University Singers and University Orchestra in Poulenc's Gloria, said he took time Thursday to take a walk and could "hear new life just buzzing" in the countryside.

Taking part in the dedication of the University of Nebraska Kimball Hall, Shaw is currently conductor of the Atlanta, Ga., Symphony Orchestra and is well-known as the director of the Robert Shaw Chorale.

He said he was happy to see that popular music was moving to folk material, but added that he did not like the "dependence on loudness" and the commercialization that has taken place on the music market.

George Gershwin, Oscar Hammerstein, Jerome Kern and Burt Bacharach were given as some of his favorite musicians, with Shubert and Mozart listed as the "great song writers." Although he likes many types of music, Shaw said black-white spirituals are his favorite.

He said he believes the humanities are an important part of life and believes that the "mess the world is in is a result of the educational processes of the past 100 years or so. We have been raised for the various messes," he added.

He said he does not believe that "you can save the world by making everyone a big chorus," but added "if he (a child) learned to use a paint brush before he learned to use a gun" things might be different.

Following the dedication ceremonies which included a dedicatory address by Chancellor Durwood B. Varner the University Orchestra and University Singers presented an exciting performance of Poulenc's "Gloria" under the excellent tutelage of Robert Shaw, the director of the Robert Shaw Chorale and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

The "Gloria" is a stunningly beautiful composition that definitely belongs among the great choral works of the 20th century. It is somewhat electric in nature defying categorizing or representation in a well-defined period of choral writing.

It is divided into six contrasting sections in which Poulenc apportions his musical moments with exquisite lyricism to driving rhythmic sections that reminds one of the German composer, Carl Orff.

Miss Charlotte Bumgarner, soprano soloist and a junior at the University School of Music was completely professional in her performance. A student of Prof. John Zei she displayed a clear, ringing quality totally equal to the demands of a difficult and versatile solo that required a complete voice capable of both piano and forte vocal control throughout the entire soprano voice.

Robert Shaw's direction of the large ensemble was masterful. He was in complete control of a group of young but talented musicians who were not accustomed to his conducting.

He is a perfectionist in every detail and was successful in producing the more subtle directions of Poulenc through the singers and the orchestra. He was openly appreciative of the many hours of meticulous care that Prof. Emanuel Wishnow, director of the University Orchestra, and Prof. Earl Jenkins, director of the University Singers had spent in preparing the two outstanding groups for his two day visit on campus.

The acoustics at Kimball Hall are excellent. The music is easily audible and it generally enhances the musical qualities of both instruments and voices.

The University of Nebraska and the city of Lincoln can indeed be proud of this new structure. The remaining concerts of this dedication series are sold out but there will be some standing room only tickets sold at the door.

Douglas County Bill Advanced

The Legislature gave first round approval Thursday to a bill which would require the Douglas County commissioners to be nominated by the primary election by districts and elected at large.

The vote was 25-4 to send the bill (LB612) over its first floor hurdle. It is chiefly sponsored by Sen. William Skarda of Omaha.

Total Area Employment Climbs 600

Total employment in the Lincoln area rose to 80,000 workers during March, an increase of 600 over February, according to a report from the Nebraska Department of Labor.

Temperate weather has allowed the start of spring work in agriculture, the report said, bringing with it an increase in farm employment of 100 workers.

Nonagricultural wage and salary workers showed a 450 increase and "all other nonagricultural" employment advanced 50 workers during March.

Employment over the yearly period, March 1970 to March 1971, gained 1,300 workers, the report said. Agricultural employment dropped 100, nonagricultural wage and salary employment gained 1,150 and "all other nonagricultural" employment rose 250. Manufacturing slipped back 100, while construction declined by 350 workers and trade fell by 150 workers during the yearly period.

Finance, insurance, real estate and services showed a gain of 600, while government increased 1,150 workers since March 1970.

The total number of unemployed workers declined 50 from February to March, according to the report. For the yearly period, unemployment rose 1,500. The number of unemployed workers for March stands at 3,750 or 4.5% of the total work force. This compares with a 4.5% unemployment figure for February and a 2.8% figure for March 1970.

Chevrolet's
Summer Sale is on.

White stripe tires.
AM/FM radio or any stereo equipment.
Wheel covers.

Our Summer Sale. It's a simple sale.
And it works like this. You simply order America's most popular mid-size car, Chevelle. Or America's best-looking, best-handling sportster, Camaro.
You equip either car with white stripe tires, wheel covers, deluxe seat belts and AM/FM radio (or any stereo equipment).
Do this—and we'll help save you some money.
And what's just as nice, we'll be helping you save money on two of America's more popular cars. You get great deals on cars that give you more for less even when they're not on sale.
Except now they are on sale, and during May and June—the two months more people buy cars anyway. Which isn't the most likely way of doing business.
But then, "Putting you first" doesn't mean doing things from our point of view.
It means doing them from yours.

Chevelle.
Camaro.

Dr. Kruse Named State Veterinarian

Dr. Norman Kruse of Genoa was appointed state veterinarian Thursday by State Agriculture Director Glenn Kreuscher.

Dr. Kruse, 49, who has been a practicing veterinarian for 25 years, will assume the full-time duties of the $17,000-a-year post on June 1.

His appointment was announced in a news conference attended by Gov. J. J. Exon, members of the Legislature's agriculture committee, and representatives of the state's livestock industries.

Noting Dr. Kruse's professional and civic achievements, Kreuscher said the new state veterinarian's name "was at the top of everybody's selection list."

Welcomed aboard by Exon, Dr. Kruse said he would run his office "with the best of my knowledge and ability" and will "work close with Nebraska's livestock industry."

Dr. Kruse succeeds Dr. Stanley Flora, who resigned last month.

A native of Albion, Dr. Kruse is a former Star Farmer of America, a national award of the Future Farmers of America achieved by only three Nebraskans.

He received his doctor's degree in veterinary medicine from Colorado State University in 1945 after undergraduate studies at the University of Nebraska.

He is a past president of both the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association and the Interstate Veterinary Medical Association.

In civic affairs, he has served as mayor of Genoa for 12 years, nine years on the Genoa School Board, and 23 years as chairman of the Genoa Livestock Show.

Dr. Kruse and his wife, the former Ruth M. Herse of Albion, have two sons, Wayne of Sterling, Colo., whi is active in auctioneering and livestock production and Edwin, a veterinary medicine student at Colorado State.

Both sons are associated with their father in a registered Shorthorn herd.

Committee Kills Southeast Tech School Measure

A bill to create a Southeast Nebraska Vocational Technical School at Beatrice was killed Thursday by the Legislature's Education Committee.

LB108, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Fred W. Carstens of Beatrice, was killed 7-1.

The measure would have provided that the state would purchase the property, buildings and equipment from the now-defunct Pershing College in Beatrice to be used for the vocational technical school.

At the bill's public hearing in mid-February, the committee first voted 5-3 to kill the bill, but hours later reconsidered its action and decided to hold the bill for later disposition.

Another bill, LB759, to set up a statewide system of technical community colleges, is ready for final passage. The location of trade schools under the community college concept has not been determined.

Bill May Avert SBA Loans Halt

Washington (AP) — Legislation to avert a possible halt in Small Business Administration loans went to the White House Wednesday with unanimous House backing.

The bill increases from $2.2 billion to $3.1 billion the ceiling on loans, guarantees and other commitments outstanding from SBA's business loan fund.

Court Again Asked To Overturn Rape-Kidnap Conviction

The Supreme Court Thursday was again asked to overturn the rape-kidnap conviction of an Omaha Indian on the grounds the state has yielded legal jurisdiction to the federal government.

The contention was made by attorney William Line of Fremont in oral arguments before the high court involving the case of Dennis Tyndall.

Tyndall was one of six Omaha Indians charged in the case which involves the rape-kidnap of a coed in July 1969 on the Omaha Reservation in Thurston County.

Tyndall received a life sentence from the Thurston County district court on the kidnapping conviction and 20 years in prison on the rape conviction.

Line told the court that under retrocession, a process involving legal jurisdiction, the state has no authority to prosecute Tyndall. Under the retrocession order signed last year by then-Interior Secretary Walter Hickel, the federal government took over jurisdiction on the Omaha Reservation with the federal government to prosecute major crimes and an Indian court to handle lesser offenses.

The high court already has before it an appeal from Line to overturn the rape-kidnap conviction of Wayne Goham, also one of the six Indians along with Tyndall, on grounds the state no longer has jurisdiction.

Arguing for the state, Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Gillan again pointed out that the offense had occurred in July 1969 and the retrocession order had not taken effect until the following year.

Water Industry Advisory Group Plan Advances

A bill which would create an advisory Nebraska Water Industry Committee was sent to the floor of the Legislature Thursday by the Unicameral's Agriculture and Recreation Committee.

The bill approved was LB717, sponsored by Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora.

At the same time, the committee agreed to sponsor a new bill which would make some changes in the statute language relating to returned assets of the Nebraska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation.

Woman Treated For Heel Injury

Doris Jensen, 23, of 2734 So. 10th, was treated for a fractured heel at Lincoln General Hospital Thursday and later released after the car her husband was driving was in collision with another.

Lincoln police reported that her husband, Allen, 25, was driving northbound on 10th and was in collision with the rear of a vehicle driven by James Monahan, 37, of 2430 So. 35th.

Schultz Honored With Special Day

The Legislature Thursday unanimously adopted a resolution designating May 30, 1971, as C. Bertram Schultz Day in honor of the Red Cloud native and director of the Nebraska State Museum.

Resolution 60, introduced by Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox, noted Schultz's "outstanding contribution to the state of Nebraska as an educator, geologist and author."

35% Property Tax Exemption Approved

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation providing a 35% personal property tax exemption for farm and business inventory and equipment jumped its final legislative hurdle Thursday and marched straight into the face of a gubernatorial veto.

The bill, LB573, gained 32-15 final reading approval in the Unicameral.

At least 30 votes will be required to override Gov. J. James Exon's veto.

Opposition Votes

Only two members of the 12-man Omaha delegation voted for the bill; two of Lancaster County's six senators supported the measure.

The other two opposition votes came from senators representing other large communities, Donald Elrod of Grand Island and Richard Marvel of Hastings.

LB573 will provide a 35% tax exemption in 1972 for business inventory and equipment, agricultural machinery and equipment, livestock, grain, seed, feed, fertilizer, poultry, fish and fur-bearing animals.

The exemption is scheduled to increase over a seven-year period until it reaches a 90% level in 1978.

The property tax reduction for 1972 has been estimated at about $17 million.

Lost Funds

Tax funds lost to local government will be replaced by state sales and income tax revenue. Replacement financing could be provided by a 3% increase in the personal income tax rate or a one-half percent hike in the sales tax rate.

The bill was steered through the Legislature by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Exon's 1970 Democratic gubernatorial primary election opponent.

Exon has characterized the measure as "the great tax hoax" of 1971.

If the proposal garners sufficient support to override the governor's veto, it will provide that the 35% exemption continue in 1973. It would jump to 50% in 1974 and then rise by 10% each succeeding year until it reaches the 90% limit in 1978.

Rough Figures

—business inventories, $6.0 million.

—business equipment, $4.7 million.

—agricultural machinery and equipment, $2.1 million.

—grain and seed, $700,000.

—LB573 implements a constitutional amendment approved last November by the voters authorizing the Legislature to reclassify and exempt from taxation any or all items of personal property.

Termed Unfair

Sponsors of the proposal have contended that the tax on inventory and equipment is unfair. Its removal, they suggest, would give Nebraska's economy a boost through increased prosperity for agriculture and business.

Exon argues that the bill will merely shift the tax burden from business interests which are able to pay to the majority of Nebraska wage-earners whose sales and income taxes will increase.

Not Voting: Chambers, Schmit.

7 Amendments Added To May Primary Ballot

By The Associated Press

Bills adding seven constitutional amendments to those which Nebraskans will ballot upon at the May primary next year were passed on final reading in the Legislature Thursday.

The amendments have been adjuged non-controversial and all received at least the 40 votes needed for submission of amendments at an election other than a general election.

Altogether, the Legislature passed 13 bills on final reading. They include measures (E-emergency clause):

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment reducing to a simple majority the legislative vote needed to change the number of district courts and revise judicial district boundaries. LB303. Hasebroock, Syas. 46-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary constitutional amendments refining provisions related to elections, including residence requirements, exceptions to military duty on election day and permitting other methods of voting. LB339 Whitney, Syas, Hasebroock. 47-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment recodifying and revising article XVII, and deleting obsolete matter. LB504. Whitney, Hasebroock, Syas. 44-0

—Providing for trial by the court without a jury in certain appeals. LB578. Carstens. 45-0.

—Authorizing first and second class cities, and requiring villages, to enter into contracts with county boards for police services. LB594. (E). Carpenter. 48-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment authorizing intergovernmental cooperation by state or local government. LB604 Hasebroock, Syas, Whitney. 45-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment transferring from one article to another the provisions for industrial development bonds. LB688. Hasebroock, Whitney. 44-2.

—Extending the powers of the city of Omaha to erect, establish, maintain and regulate off-street parking and to provide a duty respecting sidewalks. LB237. (E) Stahmer. 42-5.

—Increasing the amount of any contract in which an officer of a second class city or village may have an interest. LB549. (E). Ziebarth. 38-6.

—Authorizing dentists and institutions or schools to employ dental auxiliaries in addition to licensed dental hygienists and variously revising fees and qualifications for dental licensure. LB587. Swanson. 43-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment clarifying a provision related to the militia LB621. Whitney, Syas, Hasebroock. 42-0.

—Amending law requiring municipalities to adopt a minimum standards housing ordinance to require such ordinance only if the municipality has completed an approved workable program or is in the process of the preparation of such a program. LB747 Carpenter. 26-12.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment consolidating provisions related to miscellaneous corporations. LB762. Whitney, Syas, Hasebroock. 42-0

Exon Will Veto Exemption

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon said Thursday he will veto the 35% tax exemption measure for business and farm inventories and propose to the Legislature "some possible revenue alternatives to provide some relief where relief is needed."

Exon said the alternatives to LB573, enacted on a 32-14 vote by the lawmakers, would be spelled out in his veto message next week.

Meanwhile, the governor said he hopes Nebraska citizens "will take the time to see what the majority of the Legislature is attempting to do to them and make their wishes known to their senators."

Working Man's Pocket

Exon characterized the measure as an "attempt to reach into the pockets of the working man for sales and income tax revenue to help out the owners of business and farm inventories and equipment."

"This is another example of class legislation by a majority of the Legislature to effect a tax bonanza for a few at the expense of the many," he said.

Exon had attempted to compromise on a 10% reduction to start, but this was spurned by the Legislature.

"I'm most concerned," he said, "that the Legislature seems to be tossing aside the campaign advertising by proponents of Amendment 10 in last year's election."

Statements Cited

He cited repeated statements by the constitutional amendment's backers that the measure "would be implemented over the long pull and would cause no increase in either real property taxes or sales or income tax rates."

He noted $53,000 was spent by the amendment's backers in the campaign, but there has been no attempt to lobby the lawmakers along the lines of their campaign promises.

The property tax reduction for 1972 has been estimated at $17 million, with an estimated 3% increase in the personal income rate and a one-half per cent hike in the sales tax rate to replace the property tax funds lost to local government.

Textbook Lending Advanced

By The Associated Press

Assured that a test of constitutionality will be carried to the State Supreme Court, the Legislature Thursday approved on general file a bill authorizing public school districts to lend textbooks to parochial school children in the district.

The Supreme Court will determine whether the act — designed to give some assistance to private and parochial schools — contravenes the Nebraska Constitution's ban against using public money for private schools.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who sponsored the measure, LB659, at the request of the Nebraska Catholic Conference, said the test has been promised, both by Catholics and by Executive Secretary John Lynch of the Nebraska State Education Association, who opposed the bill at its public hearing in March.

In current form, LB659 authorizes public school districts to lend secular textbooks to parochial school students in grades 7 through 12. The public schools would be reimbursed for this cost through a new provision in the state school aid law.

The unicameral's education committee, which considered the bill, rewrote it into a constitutional amendment proposal. But lawmakers Thursday approved 39-1 Carpenter's proposal to restore the bill to its original form, and the bill then won 35-0 approval in its first floor test.

Also moving ahead in first floor tests Thursday were measures:.

—Combining the administration of various retirement systems in a new Public Employes Retirement Board. LB987.

—Redistricting the State Railway Commission. LB955.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Friday

Most astrological authorities associate Aries with the diamond. Aries persons generally have strong, confident voices. Handwriting of these natives is hurried — the letters "m" and "n" are seldom clearly written. Some famous persons born under Aries include Rick Barry, Jacques Brel and David Lean.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Changes occur in legal, marital areas. Friend may become involved in romantic triangle. Be concerned, but avoid becoming unduly involved. Be aware of various possibilities.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Some tasks have to be handled in other than a routine manner. This is time for change, for testing and additional investigating. Affects job, relations with associates and co-workers.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Study Taurus message. Many implications apply to your domestic situation. Children are spotlighted. Your ability to move with the time also is emphasized. Key is to be perceptive

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Investments, loans — these come about through unorthodox procedures, events. One born under Pisces knows something that is not being revealed. Proceed with caution.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Check legal aspects before taking direct action. You actually gain now by adhering to certain rules, restrictions. A too free-and-easy attitude could be costly, result in loss.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): What seemed an expense that could never end, does so. You can cut yourself loose from burden. Key is faith, power of will. There is no need to carry weight not your own

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Personal magnetism soars. You are vibrant. Opposite sex is drawn to you. Be daring. Take a chance on your own judgment, abilities. Stress originality, added independence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Activity of a confidential nature occurs in relation to home, property. Follow through on hunch. Check values. You may be in possession of valuable hole card. Proceed accordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Lively friends help stimulate ideas. Accept social invitation. Be with those who share your interests, aspirations. Romantic interlude is indicated. You are especially vibrant.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19): You obtain resources which are required for solid advancement. Collect necessary data. Be aware of details, apparent minor points. Accent on prestige, elevation of standing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Be ready for change, variety of experiences, including travel. Unusual publications, educational material play key roles. A Virgo individual can set wonderful example. Observe, learn.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You make definite gains. You are able to utilize natural abilities. Greater recognition of efforts is result. You receive encouragement from one dear to you. Money will be forthcoming.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are introspective, your own severest critic. Goals are high; your principles take precedent. You now make numerous contacts, have a meaningful relationship. If single, you could be on road to altar. If married, a sharing of experiences could bring you closer to mate.

35% Property Tax Exemption Approved

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation providing a 35% personal property tax exemption for farm and business inventory and equipment jumped its final legislative hurdle Thursday and marched straight into the face of a gubernatorial veto.

The bill, LB573, gained 32-15 final reading approval in the Unicameral.

At least 30 votes will be required to override Gov. J. James Exon's veto.

Opposition Votes

Only two members of the 12-man Omaha delegation voted for the bill; two of Lancaster County's six senators supported the measure.

The other two opposition votes came from senators representing other large communities, Donald Elrod of Grand Island and Richard Marvel of Hastings.

LB573 will provide a 35% tax exemption in 1972 for business inventory and equipment, agricultural machinery and equipment, livestock, grain, seed, feed, fertilizer, poultry, fish and fur-bearing animals.

The exemption is scheduled to increase over a seven-year period until it reaches a 90% level in 1978.

The property tax reduction for 1972 has been estimated at about $17 million.

Lost Funds

Tax funds lost to local government will be replaced by state sales and income tax revenue. Replacement financing could be provided by a 3% increase in the personal income tax rate or a one-half percent hike in the sales tax rate.

The bill was steered through the Legislature by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Exon's 1970 Democratic gubernatorial primary election opponent.

Exon has characterized the measure as "the great tax hoax" of 1971.

If the proposal garners sufficient support to override the governor's veto, it will provide that the 35% exemption continue in 1973. It would jump to 50% in 1974 and then rise by 10% each succeeding year until it reaches the 90% limit in 1978.

Rough Figures

—business inventories, $6.0 million.

—business equipment, $4.7 million.

—agricultural machinery and equipment, $2.1 million.

—grain and seed, $700,000.

—LB573 implements a constitutional amendment approved last November by the voters authorizing the Legislature to reclassify and exempt from taxation any or all items of personal property.

Termed Unfair

Sponsors of the proposal have contended that the tax on inventory and equipment is unfair. Its removal, they suggest, would give Nebraska's economy a boost through increased prosperity for agriculture and business.

Exon argues that the bill will merely shift the tax burden from business interests which are able to pay to the majority of Nebraska wage-earners whose sales and income taxes will increase.

Here is the final reading vote:

Not Voting: Chambers, Schmit.

Exon Will Veto Exemption

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon said Thursday he will veto the 35% tax exemption measure for business and farm inventories and propose to the Legislature "some possible revenue alternatives to provide some relief where relief is needed."

Exon said the alternatives to LB573, enacted on a 32-14 vote by the lawmakers, would be spelled out in his veto message next week.

Meanwhile, the governor said he hopes Nebraska citizens "will take the time to see what the majority of the Legislature is attempting to do to them and make their wishes known to their senators."

Working Man's Pocket

Exon characterized the measure as an "attempt to reach into the pockets of the working man for sales and income tax revenue to help out the owners of business and farm inventories and equipment."

"This is another example of class legislation by a majority of the Legislature to effect a tax bonanza for a few at the expense of the many," he said.

Exon had attempted to compromise on a 10% reduction to start, but this was spurned by the Legislature.

"I'm most concerned," he said, "that the Legislature seems to be tossing aside the campaign advertising by proponents of Amendment 10 in last year's election."

Statements Cited

He cited repeated statements by the constitutional amendment's backers that the measure "would be implemented over the long pull and would cause no increase in either real property taxes or sales or income tax rates."

He noted $53,000 was spent by the amendment's backers in the campaign, but there has been no attempt to lobby the lawmakers along the lines of their campaign promises.

The property tax reduction for 1972 has been estimated at $17 million, with an estimated 3% increase in the personal income rate and a one-half per cent hike in the sales tax rate to replace the property tax funds lost to local government.

Textbook Lending Advanced

By The Associated Press

Assured that a test of constitutionality will be carried to the State Supreme Court, the Legislature Thursday approved on general file a bill authorizing public school districts to lend textbooks to parochial school children in the district.

The Supreme Court will determine whether the act — designed to give some assistance to private and parochial schools — contravenes the Nebraska Constitution's ban against using public money for private schools.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who sponsored the measure, LB659, at the request of the Nebraska Catholic Conference, said the test has been promised, both by Catholics and by Executive Secretary John Lynch of the Nebraska State Education Association, who opposed the bill at its public hearing in March.

In current form, LB659 authorizes public school districts to lend secular textbooks to parochial school students in grades 7 through 12. The public schools would be reimbursed for this cost through a new provision in the state school aid law.

The unicameral's education committee, which considered the bill, rewrote it into a constitutional amendment proposal. But lawmakers Thursday approved 39-1 Carpenter's proposal to restore the bill to its original form, and the bill then won 35-0 approval in its first floor test.

Also moving ahead in first floor tests Thursday were measures:.

—Combining the administration of various retirement systems in a new Public Employes Retirement Board. LB987.

—Redistricting the State Railway Commission. LB955.

—Authorizing school districts, vocational-technical schools and junior colleges to lease buildings and equipment. LB732.

7 Amendments Added To May Primary Ballot

By The Associated Press

Bills adding seven constitutional amendments to those which Nebraskans will ballot upon at the May primary next year were passed on final reading in the Legislature Thursday.

The amendments have been adjuged non-controversial and all received at least the 40 votes needed for submission of amendments at an election other than a general election.

Altogether, the Legislature passed 13 bills on final reading. They include measures (E-emergency clause):

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment reducing to a simple majority the legislative vote needed to change the number of district courts and revise judicial district boundaries. LB303. Hasebroock, Syas. 46-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary constitutional amendments refining provisions related to elections, including residence requirements, exceptions to military duty on election day and permitting other methods of voting. LB339. Whitney, Syas, Hasebroock. 47-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment recodifying and revising article XVII, and deleting obsolete matter. LB504. Whitney, Hasebroock, Syas. 44-0.

—Providing for trial by the court without a jury in certain appeals. LB578. Carstens. 45-0.

—Authorizing first and second class cities, and requiring villages, to enter into contracts with county boards for police services. LB594. (E). Carpenter. 48-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment authorizing intergovernmental cooperation by state or local government. LB604 Hasebroock, Syas, Whitney. 45-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment transferring from one article to another the provisions for industrial development bonds. LB688. Hasebroock, Whitney. 44-2.

—Extending the powers of the city of Omaha to erect, establish, maintain and regulate off-street parking and to provide a duty respecting sidewalks. LB237. (E). Stahmer. 42-5.

—Increasing the amount of any contract in which an officer of a second class city or village may have an interest. LB549. (E). Ziebarth. 38-6.

—Authorizing dentists and institutions or schools to employ dental auxiliaries in addition to licensed dental hygienists and variously revising fees and qualifications for dental licensure. LB587. Swanson. 43-0.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment clarifying a provision related to the militia LB621. Whitney, Syas, Hasebroock. 42-0.

—Amending law requiring municipalities to adopt a minimum standards housing ordinance to require such ordinance only if the municipality has completed an approved workable program or is in the process of the preparation of such a program. LB747. Carpenter. 26-12.

—Submitting to voters at the 1972 May primary a constitutional amendment consolidating provisions related to miscellaneous corporations. LB762. Whitney, Syas, Hasebroock. 42-0.

College Students, Especially Girls, Said Paying For 'New Morality'

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The director of medical services at the University of California's Berkeley campus said Thursday that college students, and especially women, are "paying the price in medical and psychological health problems" for the "so-called new morality."

"The problem results from misuse and abuse of moral and ethical codes," said Dr. Henry Bruyn in the last of a series of Steinhart Lectures sponsored by the University of Nebraska Health Services.

"The challenge," Bruyn told a small NU audience, "to prevent disease and personal tragedies must be directed at future students."

'Can Do Much'

Bruyn said one of the biggest offshoots of new ethical values is what he called "an epidemic of gonorrhea throughout the United States."

Incidence of the disease recently has increased 1,000% in most major metropolitan areas, he said, based on those cases which are reported.

Statistics indicate that one of every 10 people between the ages of 15 and 21 "will have gonorrhea next year," he said, noting "that is the peak age group."

'Frustrating Disease'

He called it a "frustrating disease to try to eliminate," although it is rapidly cured with antibiotics if treated in the early stages.

But he said females, who carry the disease, can do so for weeks or months without any symptoms of the infection.

And when it finally shows up in symptoms, he noted, physical danger can result which may leave a woman infertile.

'Rough Penalty'

"The girl pays a rough penalty for a gonorrhea epidemic," he said.

He said recent studies on his campus and elsewhere show the rate of fear of pregnancy among college coeds is going up, and a high percentage of girls treated in psychiatric clinics have had sexual experiences.

"I'm not saying the non-virgin is nuts," he said, "but I am saying she seems to have more need for some assistance in the psychiatric clinic."

Guilt Feelings

Some experts, he said, say the problems stem from guilt feelings which are the result of "selfish sex," "dishonest sex" or sexual relations used to "fight loneliness."

He also cited figures which indicate the change in sexual behavior is not limited to the campus.

A U.S. Health Service study showed the rate of illegitimate births was up some 57% between 1957 and 1964 among women in the 30 to 34 age bracket.

At the same time, he said, the rate increased only 1% among females 15 to 19 and 10% among women 20 to 24.

During the same period, he said, illegitimate births increased 14% among white women, while they dropped 8% among non-whites.

Human Rights Group Hears About Sex Bias

The Human Rights Commission was asked Thursday to do what it could to help eliminate discrimination on the basis of sex.

Mrs. Kathy Braeman, representing the National Organization for Women (NOW) in Lincoln, told commission members that "We are here to explore with you what the role of the Human Rights Commission might be in improving the status of women in Lincoln."

Mrs. Braeman and others told commission members that discrimination against women, especially in the areas of employment and housing, is practiced here in Lincoln.

'Legal Status?'

Pointing out that the commission's discrimination complaint forms do not include the word "sex," Mrs. Braeman asked "what is the legal status of sex discrimination under the city ordinances?"

Human Rights Officer Gerald Henderson said that the open housing ordinance has been amended to include sex, and that LB161, enacted this year, would allow the city to adopt ordinances covering employment.

Mrs. Breaman said that she had received literature from the city relating to an individual's civil rights which omitted both sex and age as areas where the city does not discriminate in hiring.

"Does this mean that it is legal for the city personnel office to discriminate on the basis of age or sex?" she asked.

Advertising Critized

She also objected to the city's advertising for help under sex-segregated want ads rather than under "Help wanted—men or women."

Chairman Bill Wilson said that "it would be interesting if someone filed a complaint against the city personnel office," but the commission took no action on the matter.

Also appearing before the commission were Genevieve Meiniger, who said that "the employment picture for women is worse than that for men," and Karen Swihart, YWCA youth services director, who agreed that women are not given the opportunity to apply for jobs which have been traditionally filled by men.

Clean-Up Progress Reported

Progress in cleaning up the city with more still needed to be done was reported by Orville DsFrain, a health department official and chairman of a steering committee to direct the city-wide clean-up campaign, at a meeting of the committee Thursday.

The clean-up campaign ends May 31.

DeFrain and others on the committee reported on the status of clean-up efforts.

The health official said that a lot still needs to be done to clean up the alleys, noting that some families do not use garbage containers or have garbage service, which is provided for a fee by private haulers.

DeFrain said the alleys are in a better shape in some areas since the clean-up campaign started.

A special effort to clean up the College View area by May 19th is planned with pupils from the College View Academy to distribute literature in the next several days.

Reports on plans in other neighborhoods were also presented.

Meanwhile, the haulers are picking up trash placed along the curb until the May 31 date at no extra charge.

DeFrain said afterwards that the on going campaign is intended to be an "every citizen effort" to improve the appearance of the neighborhood areas.

Chrysler Bonus Program Drops 2,600 Employes

Detroit (AP) — Some 2,600 Chrysler Corp. executives were removed from the company's bonus rolls Wednesday when the plan's eligibility requirement was boosted to a minimum annual salary of $24,000.

The move leaves about 1,400 top officials eligible for bonuses, which because of Chrysler's poor profit record have not been awarded since 1968.

However, with a first-quarter profit of $10.8 million this year and expectations of a strong showing through the remaining three-quarters, the plan could well be reinstated this year.

In 1968 a bonus allocation of $25,270,248 was divided between 4,172 officers and salaried employes, including almost $5 million among the 40 or so top officers.

The company said the executives being dropped from bonus eligibility will begin receiving additional compensation in lieu of bonus payments.

Military Narcotic Traffic Is Target Of Crackdown

Washington (AP) — The Customs Bureau Thursday ordered intensified inspection of U.S. soldiers returning from Southeast Asia, and complete inspection of military mail parcels, in a crackdown on a flood of high-grade heroin and other hard narcotics coming into the United States.

Customs Commissioner Myles J. Ambrose said the flow of hard narcotics into the United States through military channels had reached serious proportions.

He said from now on, customs will inspect all mail parcels coming through military post offices to check for drugs.

He issued the order after returning from a recent trip to Vietnam, Thailand and other Southeastern Asian countries.

'Talk Back' On Mental Health Set

A "talk back" designed as a public hearing on area mental health needs will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 11.

Sponsored by the mental health planning committee of the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council, the hearing is scheduled in the fifth floor auditorium of the Lincoln Center Building.

The committee is seeking public views on such mental health problems as unwanted pregnancies, drug abuse, family and marriage counseling, alcoholism, suicide prevention and personal crisis service.

"We hope that by encouraging people to attend and share their ideas, complaints and suggestions in a 'talk back' the committee will be able to formulate a plan to better meet the mental health needs of Lincoln," said Clancy Woolman, the committee chairman.

"Only by having a broad spectrum of Lincoln citizens, both potential consumers of mental health services and representatives of the providing agencies, will we be able to submit an adequate plan," he said.

Draft Number For June 125

Washington (AP) — The Selective Service System said Thursday the highest random sequence number that any local board may call in June will be 125, the same as May.

The 125 figure is up from 100 for the first four months of this year. It compares with a 170 random sequence number for last June, the highest figure for 1970.

The random sequence numbers for May and June are based on draft quotas of 20,000 for each of the two months. The Department of Defense has raised its May call for the 15,000 previously announced.

Rites Set For James Duff, Longtime Printer

Services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday for James R. Duff, 86, of 3914 Dudley, who died Wednesday evening.

Mr. Duff retired in 1968 after after 65 years as a printer in the newspaper business, starting when he went to work for the Nebraska State Journal and the Lincoln Evening News in 1903.

He was reared in the mountain country of Dufield, Va. and was educated by a governess who taught the neighborhood children in a hotel, owned by his father.

When John Fox Jr. wrote "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" about life in the hotel, Mr. Duff was the real-life crippled boy in the book, which was later made into a motion picture.

Mr. Duff was the first patient treated for a leg injury in the Louisville, Ky., Children's Hospital in 1892, when the hospital had only one bed and one nurse. After two years of treatment, he came out of the hospital with one leg shorter than the other, but was otherwise cured.

He was badly spoiled, he said, by the attention from hospital attendants, residents in the neighborhood and his family. At 14, determined to leave his home village where everybody looked upon him as a "poor little crippled boy," he finally got to Lincoln, after two tries.

The first time his pocket was rifled as he lay asleep on a train. The second time, however, he got to Lincoln where his brother worked for the Associated Press, located in The Journal building.

He was finally given a job of holding copy for the proofreader in 1903 and was later given a job in the composing room. In 1913 he was made foreman and in 1928 became superintendent of the Journal's composing room. He retired from the superintendent job in 1949, but continued as a printer.

Mr. Duff saw accounts of many big news events pass through his hands during his work in the Journal-Star Printing Co. composing room. Among those which he recalled upon retirement were the sinking of the Lusitania, the great San Francisco earthquake, Lindbergh's transatlantic solo flight, the ending of World Wars I and II, the killing of John Dillinger and the death of President Franklin Roosevelt.

Mr. Duff was a member of the Lincoln Typographical Union 209, Liberty Lodge 300, AF&AM, Scottish Rite and the Sesostris Temple of the Shrine.

He is survived by his wife, Leona, a sister-in-law, May Spahnle of Lincoln and several nephews and nieces.

Chrysler Bonus Program Drops 2,600 Employes

Detroit (AP) — Some 2,600 Chrysler Corp. executives were removed from the company's bonus rolls Wednesday when the plan's eligibility requirement was boosted to a minimum annual salary of $24,000.

The move leaves about 1,400 top officials eligible for bonuses, which because of Chrysler's poor profit record have not been awarded since 1968.

MISS DOROTHY POJAR

MISS NANCY MILLIN

MISS JEANIE SMITH

An announcement of interest is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pojar of Fremont who reveal the betrothal of their daughter, Dorothy Marie, to Keevin Arent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Arent of Johnstown.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, July 25.

Mr. Arent also is a former student at the University of Nebraska and now is associated with the Answorth Feedyards Co.

An October wedding is planned for Miss Nancy Millin whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Millin of Chicago, Ill., make announcement this morning of their daughter's engagement to Steven Schroeder of Arvada, Colo., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Schroeder of Lincoln.

Miss Millin will be graduated in June from Western Illinois University where she is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

Mr. Schroeder, who now is with the police department in Arvada, is a former student at Western Illinois University where he is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Joiner, Ark., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jeanie Lynn, to Lt. (jg) Larry A. Jonas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Jonas of Dorchester.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, June 27.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Blue Mountain College, Blue Mountain, Miss., with a degree in physical education from Arkansas State University. While at Blue Mountain College she served as president of the Physical Education Majors Club and was the poetry editor of the college magazine. She also was section editor of the college annual and was a member of the Modenian Society.

Lt. Jonas is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he majored in agricultural economics and where he is a member of Farm House fraternity. He is a graduate of Officer Candidate School at Newport, R.I., and now is stationed at the Guantanamo Bay Cuba Naval Base where he is completing his training as a parachutist.

Educators Honored

Two outstanding Lincoln educators were presented life memberships by the Lincoln Council of the PTA on Thursday afternoon, May 6.

Honored at the general meeting were Dr. Milton Evans, dean of student affairs and professor of education at Nebraska Wesleyan University; and Mrs. Virgiline Cronkite, home economics consultant for secondary and adult education in the Lincoln Public Schools System.

The Life Mebership Certificate recipients were selected by a committee which was headed by Mrs. William Jackson. The other committee members included Mrs. Scott Norton, Mrs. John Grimes, Mrs. Jack Feldt, and Mrs. John Luethje.

The afternoon's agenda also included installation of officers for the coming year. Dr. M. Scott Norton was selected second vice president for the PTA Council, and the other new officers are John Sitma, third vice president; Mrs. Larry Haight, recording secretary; and Mrs. Frank Medsker, corresponding secretary.

Officers who will remain in their present positions for another year include Mrs. Marvin C. Stewart, president; Mrs. J. Arthur Curtiss, first vice president; and Dr. Milton Evans, treasurer.

Good morning:

There is truth and beauty in art There is also truth and beauty in many other parts of our environment, and sometimes it pays to step back and evaluate just where we are and what we are all about

For the most part, we devote the space in this column to the arts and organizations that affect the arts. Today we would like to depart from our traditional line of comment, and concern ourselves with the City of Lincoln itself

Citizens of Lincoln are indeed fortunate to live in one of America's cleanest cities. The air is sweet, the downtown area is attractive, and there are, very few ghettos or slum areas to detract from the overall beauty.

If we follow the pattern of other growing metropolitan areas, it is easy to determine that the scene of the deteriorating city is often due to simple oversight — until it is too late For that reason we urge continued concern with the development of the downtown area of Lincoln, not neglect that could ultimately lead to irreparable decay.

We chose to talk about the City this week, because we feel that it is the foundation of all other activities, including artistic endeavors. As we move our homes and our shopping centers and our businesses further away, we should not let our thoughts wander far from the heart of where it is happening, the site of our tomorrows.

Please join us.

On A Tour Of The Shops

Whether it be "Fore!" "Love," or "Wipe Out!" we are sure the men in our lives will be dressed in style on the golf course, tennis courts, and sand and surf this sports season.

With the new materials, blends, and styles, there is much to offer and recommend for the out-of-doors enthusiast — and the best thing about this year's styles is that they are ultra-casual and can be worn in or out of the particular sports center.

AT BEN SIMON'S

It won't be rough to be in the rough in the new double knit slacks we found at Ben Simon's at Gateway. These slacks stretch to provide more comfort in the search for a lost ball or placing the tee — and they are attractive in plain colors, stripes and patterns. The PANTPIT at Simon's has more of these washable polyester double knits — but with bolder stripes and prints for the younger at heart. One, in particular, was red with a white stripe and print — no one could mistake your man for a tree in this stunning number! And they also will look great at the 19th hole.

The double knit fabrics are also being used for Bermudas or walking shorts, and will be super for 18 holes of golf or a few games on the tennis court.

Men have not been left out of the hot pants rage — and the "in" for the man in your life this season are hot pants in denim and suede. We found them in the Pantpit — and the denim shorts are made more interesting with lacing up the front and sides! The hot pants are recommended for golf or tennis.

To topoff the golfing outfits, we recommend shirts of terrycloth or a knit material. The toppers will help to improve the game by catching your opponents' eye. They come in bold prints, sometimes with a south-of-the-border influence, or solids — and zip up the front or designed with three-button plackets. The same style is also used for loose knit or velour tops.

In the Pantpit we found shirts in the Wallace Berry look — with no collar and a three-button placket — in patterns, prints, and solids of a knit fabric. One of our favorites featured a combination of large squares of the prints and solids. Younger men have latched onto these unique tops for tennis and the beach.

Speaking of the sand and surf, the Pantpit at Ben Simon's at Gateway has the popular tank tops — sleeveless with a scoop neck — with stripes in many colors, and also a fun fish net style.

Swimming and beach wear is bolder and brighter than ever, thanks to the many multi-colored prints. The jam shorts will be with us again this summer, but some are longer and fuller. One that we found has wide red, white and black horizontal stripes. For the leaner and lanker beach stroller they have the knit jam shorts that are more form fitting. He won't be wiped out or left out in a light blue knit jam short number that has white pin stripes.

AT JASON'S FOR HIM

We found that there is no one look —Not long ago, men's clothing stores featured "uniforms," and some still do, but Jason's offers a multitude of styles for the man who wants a variety of looks.

One of his many looks might be in the knit theme on the golf course. Whether his tastes run to traditional brown, navy, bright red, or white, eggshell and the new berry tone, they are all ready to "tee off" in solid and geometric knit flares.

Coordinated knit tops from Jason's knit shop are not only great looking, but comfortable in any tough situation — even in your favorite sandtrap! One of the many styles that could easily become a golfer's fancy is the collarless knit top — it avoids the tan ring around the neck. Naturally, like the flares, the shirts come in solids and geometrics.

Geometric overtones apply to Jason's swimwear fashions that will make a big splash not only on the beach but on the street! Clothes nowdays play multi-roles and the swimsuit is no exception. Jason's line of soon-to-be-here swimwear starts at the top with latex stretch tank tops that accentuate the muscle man who is bound to get the girl. The swimwear shorts are called boxers, but they are certainly a far cry from the baggy ringside variety. The "boxers" are tailored in dacron polyester with cargo pockets.

AT JON FEISTNER, LTD

Jon Feistner, Ltd. is one of those men's shops that makes shopping a joy, rather than a task. Clothing for the sports minded gentleman is more attractive and practical than ever. The abandon of polyester knits is seen not only in casual slacks that are ideal for golf, but in coordinated shirts and swimwear as well.

Coordinated outfits take the stage in men's casual and sports wear. For the golfer, knit shirts of puckered boucle by Thorobred are designed to coordinate with knit slacks in both matching and contrasting colors. The cool tops are offered in both mock turtle and collared necklines with a choice of spring colors including harvest gold, Copenhagen blue, soft lime green and white.

The thick and thin of it all is in men's string knit shirts. Although these tops have been on the market in years past, this year they are being shown in fabric combinations of 80 percent nylon and 20 percent cotton to avoid the shrinkage problems prevalent in days gone by.

Seersucker has returned, now in a double knit slack. The cool summery look is just what it used to be, but give much more freedom as you tee off.

Also in the swing of things at Feistner's are cushion soft golfer's socks by Byford of Britain and Arnold Palmer. The Byford socks, which are available in both mid-calf and knee-hi lengths are in colorful air weave knits, with the extra thick toe and heel. The Arnold Palmer socks of orlon and nylon also are cushioned.

Peter Max swimwear coordinates are sure-fire scene stealers. Stretch knit tank tops are three toned. For instance, red and navy front panels with a yellow back, coordinate with yellow or navy knit swim trunks. The trunks are boxer short length, but not tight fitting. They bear the Peter Max signature on the pant leg. Another Peter Max swimwear coordinate features a tank top with a geometrically patterned suit in lavendar, brown and gold. These are also in a stretch fabric.

Exercize, Diet For Hubby--Questions

Here are two exercises men like because they build that square shoulder look women love. 1. Stand tall and raise your arms sideward, shoulder height, with stiff elbows, palms toward the floor, move the arms up and down fairly rapidly, about a foot in each direction. Rest and repeat. 2. Same starting position. This time make small circles with your stiff arms. Circle 10 times backward and then 10 times forward. Rest and repeat. The more you do these exercises the better.

I am giving an exercise for men today because I have just finished running my Tubby Hubby Diet. If any of you men want to lose from 7 to 12 pounds, and missed this diet, you may want it in a small booklet. If so send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to me in care of The Lincoln Star.

Q. I am 50 years old and have brown spots on my hands. I had some for a number of years. Recently more and more have appeared. Is there anything that can be done for them?

A. Exposure to direct sunlight produces these or at least greatly encouragse them. Many women acquire them as they grow older but the spots are more likely to be numerous and dark if the individual is an outdoor type. When gardening protest your hands with gloves. Some women who are indoor types never get these. They can be removed by a skin specialist.

Q. I am developing varicose veins. I take a daily walk. Should I stop it? I do not want these to get any worse.

A. To the contrary! Walking is beneficial to varicose veins but standing is "murder". Your physician may advise supportive hosiery but I feel sure he will recommend walking.

Q. I am 16 years old and would like to know if there is any way to get rid of ugly stretch marks on one's breasts? They have been there since my breasts first developed. Some are light red while others are white, but still noticeable. This year I plan to get a bikini and I do not want these marks to show. I tried make-up last year but it washed off in the water. Are there any exercises that will help?

A. Exercise will not help. These marks usually become white after a while. I do not know how you can get rid of them but you can hide them with make-up. You evidently did not use a waterproof make-up. There are excellent ones which will not come off in the water. You might ask a skin specialist if there is anything that can be done to banish the marks.

Q. As a result of two pregnancies my abdomen is very prominent. I exercised for two-and-a-half months but it didn't help at all. I am wondering if I diet in addition to the exercise if it will help. I am five feet and one-half inch tall and have a medium frame.

A. Exercise, if the right ones are done regularly, will take up the slack in the abdominal muscles and help work off the fatty deposits. However, if you are overweight you cannot do it with exercise alone. I feel sure you are overweight. You did not tell me how much you weigh. Count your calories as well as exercise. Also be sure you are doing the exercises which are corrective to this figure fault.

If you, or any of my readers, would like to have my abdominal exercises which have been tested in my classes, send a stamped, self-addresed envelope with your request for them to me in care of The Lincoln star.

Bridge: test your play

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs, North having opened the bidding with a diamond. North leads the queen of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

West		East
♠ Q3	N	♠ K J 6 4
♥ AQ52	W E	♥ 9 7
♦ —	S	♦ A 8 7
♣ AKQ9873		♣ J 10 6 2

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Spades. North leads the king of clubs and shifts to a trump, South following suit. How would you play the hand?

West		East
♠ AKQ5	N	♠ J 10 9 8 7
♥ Q842	W E	♥ 7 3
♦ A864	S	♦ K 10
♣ Q		♣ J 10 6 2

1. It is a practical certainty from the bidding that North has the ace of spades and king of hearts. It would therefore be wrong to rely on a heart finesse for the slam when tnere is a safer way of playing the hand.

The key play is to ruff the queen of diamonds, because winning it with the ace would compel you to choose a discard before you are ready to do so.

After drawing trumps you play the three of spades, thus placing North squarely on the horns of a dilemma. If he goes up with the ace, you can later discard the Q-5-2 of hearts on the K-J of spades and ace of diamonds, while if he ducks the spade you can win with the jack, discard the queen of spades on the ace of diamonds, lose a heart trick to North, and later ruff two hearts. Either way, you make the slam.

2. Win the spade in dummy, ruff a club, cash the K-A of diamonds, and ruff a diamond. Then ruff a club, a diamond and a club, at which point you will be out of clubs and diamonds in both hands. The end result is that you will lose precisely three tricks — a club and two hearts.

It would be perfectly natural, if you were in the East position, to ruff your club losers in dummy — and almost any East who became declarer at four spades would automatically do so. The pattern of play should not change merely because West is declarer.

On A Tour Of The Shops

Whether it be "Fore!" "Love," or "Wipe Out!" we are sure the men in our lives will be dressed in style on the golf course, tennis courts, and sand and surf this sports season.

With the new materials, blends, and styles, there is much to offer and recommend for the out-of-doors enthusiast — and the best thing about this year's styles is that they are ultra-casual and can be worn in or out of the particular sports center.

AT BEN SIMON'S

It won't be rough to be in the rough in the new double knit slacks we found at Ben Simon's at Gateway. These slacks stretch to provide more comfort in the search for a lost ball or placing the tee — and they are attractive in plain colors, stripes and patterns. The PANTPIT at Simon's has more of these washable polyester double knits — but with bolder stripes and prints for the younger at heart. One, in particular, was red with a white stripe and print — no one could mistake your man for a tree in this stunning number! And they also will look great at the 19th hole.

The double knit fabrics are also being used for Bermudas or walking shorts, and will be super for 18 holes of golf or a few games on the tennis court.

Men have not been left out of the hot pants rage — and the "in" for the man in your life this season are hot pants in denim and suede. We found them in the Pantpit — and the denim shorts are made more interesting with lacing up the front and sides! The hot pants are recommended for golf or tennis.

To topoff the golfing outfits, we recommend shirts of terrycloth or a knit material. The toppers will help to improve the game by catching your opponents' eye. They come in bold prints, sometimes with a south-of-the-border influence, or solids — and zip up the front or designed with three-button plackets. The same style is also used for loose knit or velour tops.

In the Pantpit we found shirts in the Wallace Berry look — with no collar and a three-button placket — in patterns, prints, and solids of a knit fabric. One of our favorites featured a combination of large squares of the prints and solids. Younger men have latched onto these unique tops for tennis and the beach.

Speaking of the sand and surf, the Pantpit at Ben Simon's at Gateway has the popular tank tops — sleeveless with a scoop neck — with stripes in many colors, and also a fun fish net style.

Swimming and beach wear is bolder and brighter than ever, thanks to the many multi-colored prints. The jam shorts will be with us again this summer, but some are longer and fuller. One that we found has wide red, white and black horizontal stripes. For the leaner and lanker beach stroller they have the knit jam shorts that are more form fitting. He won't be wiped out or left out in a light blue knit jam short number that has white pin stripes.

AT JASON'S FOR HIM

We found that there is no one look —Not long ago, men's clothing stores featured "uniforms," and some still do, but Jason's offers a multitude of styles for the man who wants a variety of looks.

One of his many looks might be in the knit theme on the golf course. Whether his tastes run to traditional brown, navy, bright red, or white, eggshell and the new berry tone, they are all ready to "tee off" in solid and geometric knit flares.

Coordinated knit tops from Jason's knit shop are not only great looking, but comfortable in any tough situation — even in your favorite sandtrap! One of the many styles that could easily become a golfer's fancy is the collarless knit top — it avoids the tan ring around the neck. Naturally, like the flares, the shirts come in solids and geometrics.

Geometric overtones apply to Jason's swimwear fashions that will make a big splash not only on the beach but on the street! Clothes nowdays play multi-roles and the swimsuit is no exception. Jason's line of soon-to-be-here swimwear starts at the top with latex stretch tank tops that accentuate the muscle man who is bound to get the girl. The swimwear shorts are called boxers, but they are certainly a far cry from the baggy ringside variety. The "boxers" are tailored in dacron polyester with cargo pockets.

AT JON FEISTNER, LTD

Jon Feistner, Ltd. is one of those men's shops that makes shopping a joy, rather than a task. Clothing for the sports minded gentleman is more attractive and practical than ever. The abandon of polyester knits is seen not only in casual slacks that are ideal for golf, but in coordinated shirts and swimwear as well.

Coordinated outfits take the stage in men's casual and sports wear. For the golfer, knit shirts of puckered boucle by Thorobred are designed to coordinate with knit slacks in both matching and contrasting colors. The cool tops are offered in both mock turtle and collared necklines with a choice of spring colors including harvest gold, Copenhagen blue, soft lime green and white.

The thick and thin of it all is in men's string knit shirts. Although these tops have been on the market in years past, this year they are being shown in fabric combinations of 80 percent nylon and 20 percent cotton to avoid the shrinkage problems prevalent in days gone by.

Seersucker has returned, now in a double knit slack. The cool summery look is just what it used to be, but give much more freedom as you tee off.

Also in the swing of things at Feistner's are cushion soft golfer's socks by Byford of Britain and Arnold Palmer. The Byford socks, which are available in both mid-calf and knee-hi lengths are in colorful air weave knits, with the extra thick toe and heel. The Arnold Palmer socks of orlon and nylon also are cushioned.

Peter Max swimwear coordinates are sure-fire scene stealers. Stretch knit tank tops are three toned. For instance, red and navy front panels with a yellow back, coordinate with yellow or navy knit swim trunks. The trunks are boxer short length, but not tight fitting. They bear the Peter Max signature on the pant leg. Another Peter Max swimwear coordinate features a tank top with a geometrically patterned suit in lavendar, brown and gold. These are also in a stretch fabric.

Exercize, Diet For Hubby--Questions

Here are two exercises men like because they build that square shoulder look women love. 1. Stand tall and raise your arms sideward, shoulder height, with stiff elbows, palms toward the floor, move the arms up and down fairly rapidly, about a foot in each direction. Rest and repeat. 2. Same starting position. This time make small circles with your stiff arms. Circle 10 times backward and then 10 times forward. Rest and repeat. The more you do these exercises the better.

I am giving an exercise for men today because I have just finished running my Tubby Hubby Diet. If any of you men want to lose from 7 to 12 pounds, and missed this diet, you may want it in a small booklet. If so send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to me in care of The Lincoln Star.

Q. I am 50 years old and have brown spots on my hands. I had some for a number of years. Recently more and more have appeared. Is there anything that can be done for them?

A. Exposure to direct sunlight produces these or at least greatly encouragse them. Many women acquire them as they grow older but the spots are more likely to be numerous and dark if the individual is an outdoor type. When gardening protest your hands with gloves. Some women who are indoor types never get these. They can be removed by a skin specialist.

Q. I am developing varicose veins. I take a daily walk. Should I stop it? I do not want these to get any worse.

A. To the contrary! Walking is beneficial to varicose veins but standing is "murder". Your physician may advise supportive hosiery but I feel sure he will recommend walking.

Q. I am 16 years old and would like to know if there is any way to get rid of ugly stretch marks on one's breasts? They have been there since my breasts first developed. Some are light red while others are white, but still noticeable. This year I plan to get a bikini and I do not want these marks to show. I tried make-up last year but it washed off in the water. Are there any exercises that will help?

A. Exercise will not help. These marks usually become white after a while. I do not know how you can get rid of them but you can hide them with make-up. Planting Is Early

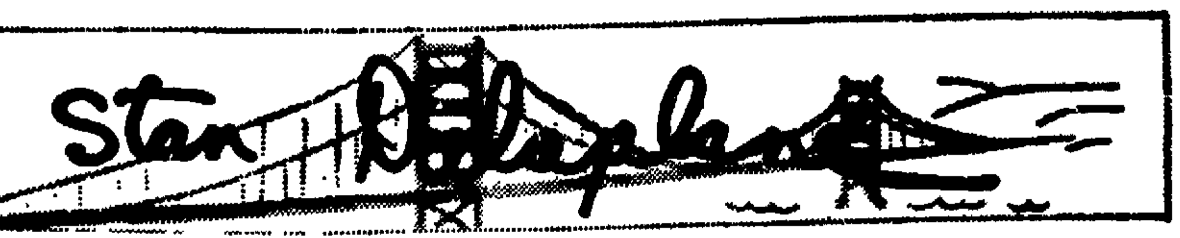
Washington (UPI) — Corn planting is well ahead of schedule in most areas of the nation but it is still too early to tell whether blight will do substantial damage to the 1971 crop, the Agriculture Department reported

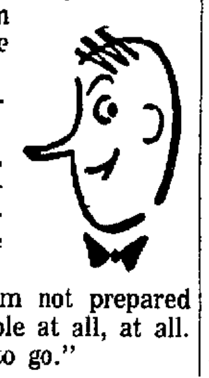
POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane



"One balmy day in May, the Old Nick came to the door,

"Says I, 'The Devil's to pay. And the debt comes hard on the poor'."

Bright days of May now. The Insurance Man suggests I raise the bet. I said: "I feel fine, Insurance Man."



He said: "Ah, but we must remember the inevitable and be prepared."

I said: "I am not prepared for the inevitable at all, at all. I don't intend to go."

☆ ☆ ☆

We are insured for just about everything around here. Insured against intruders who trip over the hose. (Do you know if a burglar falls over the furniture in the dark, the blighter can sue you?)

We have plenty of home insurance. "If you're looking for trouble, there's no place like home."

Fire insurance. Theft insurance Stray moppets falling down insurance.

Car insurance — but never enough to pay for the under-$100 damage I do. Someday I'm going to ram my bomb into a brick wall. Then they'll be sorry.

We have insurance against people who want to sue you no matter what.

We have an "umbrella policy." It covers everything. Go ahead and sue.

The biggest insurance is life insurance. This is a very bad bet because the winnings don't come to you.

The winnings go to the widow. (She immediately sets off on a cruise around the world. "I told Joe, time and again. I said: 'Slow down, Joe.' But would he listen?")

For life insurance you must go to your reward in fine print ways. If I go — and I'm not rushing — I must do it in a normal way. I cannot do it on purpose, for instance.

I must not be piloting an airplane unless I am licensed. I am then licensed to do myself in. Crash!

I must have told the truth and nothing but the truth on my application.

"Have you ever had fainting spells?"

I said no to that. I passed out once, waiting in line for shots. Lot of people do that. I don't call a "spell" though. Just piano wire nerves.

☆ ☆ ☆

I cannot shuffle off while involved with the Armed Forces. For my widow to collect on me, I cannot knock off in any old conveyance. It must be a public conveyance.

The driver of said conveyance must be licensed to do a head-on and ram me through the windshield. ("Don't jump the red light, driver. You carry Caesar and his fortunes.")

If an heir should knock me off (as in the English mystery novels) all bets are off. The insurance company pockets the poke. Sorry.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Insurance Man said: "Now is the time to think of the future." I said: "The kind of future you're talking about, I don't want to think of."

"The "umbrella policy." That is a wonderful thing.

"Suppose a grocery boy is putting the groceries in the car. He kicks off the brake. The car runs over his foot," said the ubmbrella policy man.

I said: "Serves him right, the clod. Also," I said, "I bet the damage to the car is under the $100 deductible."

☆ ☆ ☆

He said: "That boy can sue you." I said: "Sue me? Who let the brake go?"

He said: "That is the point. He nails you because it is your car."

I took the policy. He said: "It is called a personal catastrophe policy."

I said: "How do you people think up such descriptive titles?"

Planting Is Early

Washington (UPI) — Corn planting is well ahead of schedule in most areas of the nation but it is still too early to tell whether blight will do substantial damage to the 1971 crop, the Agriculture Department reported.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

"One balmy day in May, the Old Nick came to the door,

"Says I, 'The Devil's to pay. And the debt comes hard on the poor'."

Bright days of May now. The Insurance Man suggests I raise the bet. I said: "I feel fine, Insurance Man."

He said: "Ah, but we must remember the inevitable and be prepared."

I said: "I am not prepared for the inevitable at all, at all. I don't intend to go."

☆ ☆ ☆

We are insured for just about everything around here. Insured against intruders who trip over the hose. (Do you know if a burglar falls over the furniture in the dark, the blighter can sue you?)

We have plenty of home insurance. "If you're looking for trouble, there's no place like home."

Fire insurance. Theft insurance. Stray moppets falling down insurance.

Car insurance — but never enough to pay for the under-$100 damage I do. Someday I'm going to ram my bomb into a brick wall. Then they'll be sorry.

We have insurance against people who want to sue you no matter what.

We have an "umbrella policy." It covers everything. Go ahead and sue.

The biggest insurance is life insurance. This is a very bad bet because the winnings don't come to you.

The winnings go to the widow. (She immediately sets off on a cruise around the world. "I told Joe, time and again. I said: 'Slow down, Joe.' But would he listen?")

For life insurance you must go to your reward in fine print ways. If I go — and I'm not rushing — I must do it in a normal way. I cannot do it on purpose, for instance.

I must not be piloting an airplane unless I am licensed. I am then licensed to do myself in. Crash!

I must have told the truth and nothing but the truth on my application.

"Have you ever had fainting spells?"

I said no to that. I passed out once, waiting in line for shots. Lot of people do that. I don't call a "spell" though. Just piano wire nerves.

☆ ☆ ☆

I cannot shuffle off while involved with the Armed Forces. For my widow to collect on me, I cannot knock off in any old conveyance. It must be a public conveyance.

The driver of said conveyance must be licensed to do a head-on and ram me through the windshield. ("Don't jump the red light, driver. You carry Caesar and his fortunes.")

If an heir should knock me off (as in the English mystery novels) all bets are off. The insurance company pockets the poke. Sorry.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Insurance Man said: "Now is the time to think of the future." I said: "The kind of future you're talking about, I don't want to think of."

"The "umbrella policy." That is a wonderful thing.

"Suppose a grocery boy is putting the groceries in the car. He kicks off the brake. The car runs over his foot," said the ubmbrella policy man.

I said: "Serves him right, the clod. Also," I said, "I bet the damage to the car is under the $100 deductible."

☆ ☆ ☆

He said: "That boy can sue you." I said: "Sue me? Who let the brake go?"

He said: "That is the point. He nails you because it is your car."

I took the policy. He said: "It is called a personal catastrophe policy."

I said: "How do you people think up such descriptive titles?"

Housing Rehabilitation Plan Discussed

Plans for a housing rehabilitation program were discussed in detail at a meeting of the Better Lincoln Committee board of directors Thursday, which recommended to the general membership amending the group's articles of corporation to permit such a program.

The housing rehabilitation program (RIP) would be a special function of the Better Lincoln Committee aimed at helping to upgrade substandard housing and to improve the housing situation for those in need of decent housing but who, because of special problems, do not benefit from housing programs.

George Hancock, president of the nonprofit group, said the rehabilitation program would need initially between $50,000 to $100,000 in cash as seed money to operate and acquire houses along with a mortgage potential committed by lenders.

Free Loans, Grants

The initial funding, Hancock said, would have to come from no-interest bearing loans or grants from foundations.

A management council to plan and carry out the program and which would include limited income persons would be set up by the Better Lincoln Committee, the council to employ a fulltime manager.

Sue Scott from HAND (Home and Neighborhood Development) said she would like to see loans, preferrably no-interest ones, made to persons for the down payment on homes, both those to be purchased from the Better Lincoln Committee as well as other homes not rehabilitated through the program.

Mrs. Scott said there are some who do have good credit but are unable to purchase a home because of lacking the down payment.

Special Fund Doubted

Hancock said the idea would be considered but doubted a special fund would be set up for such loans. He said the group might also co-sign loans.

He also envisioned that one or more homes would be used as emergency homes, allowing those in need of immediate housing to stay for up to as long as several weeks at no charge.

Under the rehabilitation program, the Better Lincoln Committee would purchase, rehabilitate and either sell or rent the housing units back to families, with top priority to low income ones.

Homes would also be placed under the Housing Authority's subsidized housing program for rent to qualified families, Hancock said, adding that the Housing Authority is very much interested in the program.

Grand Island Union Asks Supreme Court Rehearing

The Nebraska Supreme Court was asked Thursday to grant a rehearing on a recent decision involving union representation for employes of the city of Grand Island.

The rehearing on the decision was requested by the International Association of Firefighters Local 647, AFL-CIO.

In the original ruling, the high court said not only should city employes be represented by more than one union for collective bargaining purposes, but also said fire captains and lieutenants were classified as supervisors and therefore exempt from a union contract.

However, the union, in its rehearing request, contended they should be included as union members, noting the high court had said the "only authority" they have is to direct other personnel.

Captains and lieutenants do not "generally" have the authority to hire and fire, the union said, and therefore are not actually on the management level. The union said they are more like a "straw boss" or "lead man."

"The court has held that a mere straw boss or lead man who directs the performance of routine jobs and through whom management sends and enforces its orders with respect to operations is not a supervisor," the union said.

Skinny Prisoner Would Have Liked Security Unit

Cummins Prison Farm, Ark. (AP) — Prison officials found an oversight in the $550,000 maximum security unit under construction here: cells had holes large enough for skinny prisoners to crawl through

Cynthia Houchin, Correction Department administrative aide, said that walls for cells in the units were prefabricated with a window space laced with concrete-filled steel pipes in a modernistic design.

"I had heard that some people believed the spaces between the pipes were too wide, so I told the skinniest security man I could find to try to crawl through," Mrs. Houchin said

"When he got through to his waist I told him I was convinced," she said.

Subcontractors are welding angle iron to the pipes to narrow the spaces. The unit is scheduled to be opened for use in about six weeks.

Exon May Veto Schmit's Pollution Agency Bill

By DON BEMAN
United Press International

Gov. J. James Exon indicated Thursday he may veto a bill calling for creation of an environmental protection agency if sent to him by the Legislature in its present form.

Exon said he agrees with the "intent" of David City Sen. Loren Schmit's bill (LB939), but said it has numerous "weaknesses."

"The bill in its present form, I'm afraid, would not be a workable or efficient entity of government," the governor said.

Veto Not Certain

A decision to veto has not been made for sure, he said, but added if faced with the bill he would have to decide "whether to leave things as they are."

Environmental matters are now controlled by separate agencies, which include the State Water Pollution Control Council, the Air Pollution Control Council and various offices of the State Health Department.

The environmental protection agency would take over their functions.

Exon said the major weakness of the bill is the lack of public "accountability."

'Control Og Governor'

It should be a department-level agency, subject to the "direct control of the governor, who is accountable to the people," he said.

Under the present version of the bill, Exon said, an agency "not unlike" the State Game Commission would be created, "which has been embroiled in controversy for years."

He said the issue is not how much control the governor should have over such an "important" agency, but whether the bill if enacted "will in fact do what the majority of the Legislature wants it to do."

Industry-Biased

The governor and others contend the commission formed under the bill would also be "weighted heavily" in favor of industry. And there is no provision for representation by ecologists or scientists.

The governor said he and his staff are working with Schmit to reach an "acceptable" compromise. but also said another bill which was killed by the Legislature would have been more readily acceptable.

"I wonder what happened to the earlier proposal, that was defeated, to create an environmental agency that would have been more meaningful?" he asked.

'Intensive Lobbying'

"I've heard there was intensive lobbying against it."

The bill (LB879) was sponsored by Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha, and resulted from a study begun under the administration of former Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

When the bill was killed on the floor of the Legislature, Proud charged the action resulted from lobbying by the "polluters" who he said were more interested "in making money than stopping pollution."

That proposal, Exon said, would have created an agency similar to the State Highway Commission, which acts on Roads Department matters but makes its recommendations to the governor.

Computers Seen As Aid For Police

Nebraska police officers attending the 1971 Law Enforcement Institute in Lincoln were told Thursday that while computers will be of great benefit to law enforcement agencies in the future, the utilization of computers will also bring about problems never encountered before.

Dr. Robert R. J. Gallati, director of identification and intelligence for the New York State Police, told the officers that computers will enable police agencies to be furnished complete histories of persons with whom the police might be dealing.

He added, however, that he "see(s) no problem" as long as this system is developed in such a fashion that precautions are taken to avoid the invasion of the average citizen's personal privacy.

He also said that he foresees a leveling off of the increasing crime in the United States and eventually a reversing of the trend.

Exon May Veto Schmit's Pollution Agency Bill

By DON BEMAN
United Press International

Gov. J. James Exon indicated Thursday he may veto a bill calling for creation of an environmental protection agency if sent to him by the Legislature in its present form.

Exon said he agrees with the "intent" of David City Sen. Loren Schmit's bill (LB939), but said it has numerous "weaknesses."

"The bill in its present form, I'm afraid, would not be a workable or efficient entity of government," the governor said.

Veto Not Certain

A decision to veto has not been made for sure, he said, but added if faced with the bill he would have to decide "whether to leave things as they are."

Environmental matters are now controlled by separate agencies, which include the State Water Pollution Control Council, the Air Pollution Control Council and various offices of the State Health Department.

The environmental protection agency would take over their functions.

Exon said the major weakness of the bill is the lack of public "accountability."

'Control Og Governor'

It should be a department-level agency, subject to the "direct control of the governor, who is accountable to the people," he said.

Under the present version of the bill, Exon said, an agency "not unlike" the State Game Commission would be created, "which has been embroiled in controversy for years."

He said the issue is not how much control the governor should have over such an "important" agency, but whether the bill if enacted "will in fact do what the majority of the Legislature wants it to do."

Industry-Biased

The governor and others contend the commission formed under the bill would also be "weighted heavily" in favor of industry. And there is no provision for representation by ecologists or scientists.

The governor said he and his staff are working with Schmit to reach an "acceptable" compromise. but also said another bill which was killed by the Legislature would have been more readily acceptable.

"I wonder what happened to the earlier proposal, that was defeated, to create an environmental agency that would have been more meaningful?" he asked.

'Intensive Lobbying'

"I've heard there was intensive lobbying against it."

The bill (LB879) was sponsored by Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha, and resulted from a study begun under the administration of former Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

When the bill was killed on the floor of the Legislature, Proud charged the action resulted from lobbying by the "polluters" who he said were more interested "in making money than stopping pollution."

That proposal, Exon said, would have created an agency similar to the State Highway Commission, which acts on Roads Department matters but makes its recommendations to the governor.

Unicam Boosts Political Parties

. . . Convention Change Advances

The Legislature Thursday tentatively decided to restore to the political parties some authority over the selection of delegates to the national nominating conventions.

Here, according to Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln, is the way LB661 would provide for selection of delegates in 1972, based on the number alloted to each party by its national committee;

Republican, 16; four selected by the state convention, three elected statewide, three elected in each of the three congressional districts.

Democratic, 22; four selected by the state convention, three elected statewide, five elected in each congressional district.

The revised bill, amended by Swanson and later by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, cleared its first floor test on a 36-3 vote.

Committee amendments which would have provided for election of the party's national committeeman and national committeewoman were stripped from the revised bill.

The national committee members are now selected by the state conventions.

The measure also provides that alternate delegates would be selected by the state convention, rather than by the electorate.

In its original form, LB661 merely reduced the filing fee for delegate candidates from $25 to $10. That provision remained intact.

Swanson said the revised bill is designed to "shorten the ballot" in 1972.

His amendments, he said, were endorsed by officials of both the Democratic and Republican Parties, and drafted with the assistance of Secretary of State Allen Beermann.

Swanson said the bill would restore some limited choice of convention delegates to the parties themselves.

"Why not let the people select them all?" Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha asked.

Rev. Varley Consecrated

. . . Bishop Coadjutor

In a rare ecumenical gesture the consecration ceremony was conducted in St. Cecilia's Catholic Cathedral before a congregation of about 1,200. This was the first time in the Midwest and the third time in the U.S. that an Episcopal bishop has been consecrated in a Catholic church.

Bishop Varley will succeed the Rt. Rev. Russell Rauscher as head of the Episcopal diocese when Bishop Rauscher retires in October of 1972.

Lightning Kills 12 Head Of Cattle; Loss Tops $2,700

Brunswick (AP) — John Forbes reported that lightning Wednesday struck a herd of cattle on his farm near Brunswick killing 12 head and stunning two others.

Forbes said 84 head were grouped near a utility pole which was hit by the bolt. He said all of the cattle were knocked to the ground, but most appeared to recover from the shock.

Forbes estimated his loss at market value at more than $2,700. He said he wasn't sure if it was covered by insurance.

Black General For Guard Set

Nebraskans For Peace Unit Backs Action On End-The-War Resolution

The president of Nebraskans for Peace said Thursday the organization's board of directors has gone on record in support of reintroduction of an "end-the-war resolution" in the Legislature.

Don Reeves of Central City said the organization was urging all Nebraskans to "convey their feelings on the issue to their respective state senators."

Nebraskans for Peace sponsored a public hearing Wednesday to hear views on a legislative proposal which would have urged an end to military involvement in Asia by April 1, 1972.

The resolution was rejected by the Legislature after the Judiciary Committee had voted to hold a hearing on the matter.

Students who organized a number of peace activities this week also said they planned to lobby in the Unicameral for reintroduction and passage of such a resolution.

Unicam Boosts Political Parties

. . . Convention Change Advances

The Legislature Thursday tentatively decided to restore to the political parties some authority over the selection of delegates to the national nominating conventions.

Here, according to Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln, is the way LB661 would provide for selection of delegates in 1972, based on the number alloted to each party by its national committee:

Republican, 16; four selected by the state convention, three elected statewide, three elected in each of the three congressional districts.

Democratic, 22; four selected by the state convention, three elected statewide, five elected in each congressional district.

The revised bill, amended by Swanson and later by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, cleared its first floor test on a 36-3 vote.

Committee amendments which would have provided for election of the party's national committeeman and national committeewoman were stripped from the revised bill.

The national committee members are now selected by the state conventions.

The measure also provides that alternate delegates would be selected by the state convention, rather than by the electorate.

In its original form, LB661 merely reduced the filing fee for delegate candidates from $25 to $10. That provision remained intact.

Swanson said the revised bill is designed to "shorten the ballot" in 1972.

His amendments, he said, were endorsed by officials of both the Democratic and Republican Parties, and drafted with the assistance of Secretary of State Allen Beermann.

Swanson said the bill would restore some limited choice of convention delegates to the parties themselves.

"Why not let the people select them all?" Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha asked.

Rev. Varley Consecrated

In a rare ecumenical gesture the consecration ceremony was conducted in St. Cecilia's Catholic Cathedral before a congregation of about 1,200. This was the first time in the Midwest and the third time in the U.S. that an Episcopal bishop has been consecrated in a Catholic church.

Bishop Varley will succeed the Rt. Rev. Russell Rauscher as head of the Episcopal diocese when Bishop Rauscher retires in October of 1972.

Lightning Kills 12 Head Of Cattle; Loss Tops $2,700

Brunswick (AP) — John Forbes reported that lightning Wednesday struck a herd of cattle on his farm near Brunswick killing 12 head and stunning two others.

Forbes said 84 head were grouped near a utility pole which was hit by the bolt. He said all of the cattle were knocked to the ground, but most appeared to recover from the shock.

Forbes estimated his loss at market value at more than $2,700. He said he wasn't sure if it was covered by insurance.

Black General For Guard Set

The New York Times

Washington — Col. C. C. Bryant, adjutant general of the District of Columbia National Guard, will become the National Guard's first black general.

President Nixon is expected to send his formal nomination to the Senate later this month.

Arms Race Expensive

Washington (UPI)—The Arms Control and Disarmament agency said that military spending throughout the world reached $204 billion in 1970 — roughly $6 for each man, woman and child alive.

Nebraskans For Peace Unit Backs Action On End-The-War Resolution

The president of Nebraskans for Peace said Thursday the organization's board of directors has gone on record in support of reintroduction of an "end-the-war resolution" in the Legislature.

Don Reeves of Central City said the organization was urging all Nebraskans to "convey their feelings on the issue to their respective state senators."

Nebraskans for Peace sponsored a public hearing Wednesday to hear views on a legislative proposal which would have urged an end to military involvement in Asia by April 1, 1972.

The resolution was rejected by the Legislature after the Judiciary Committee had voted to hold a hearing on the matter.

Students who organized a number of peace activities this week also said they planned to lobby in the Unicameral for reintroduction and passage of such a resolution.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

One Too Many

Some strictly personal observations:

Angel Cordero Jr., jockey on Kentucky Derby runner-up Jim French, complained after the race that the 20-horse field was too big.

"We could have won in a smaller field," he charged.

Yup, the field was too big for Jim French—by one, Cannonero II.

The wire services continue to call Colorado the primary challenger to Iowa State in the Big Eight baseball race, simply because they are second to the Cyclones in the current standings.

Phooey! The real challengers going into this weekend will both be on the same baseball field at Norman, Okla., today and Saturday. That's Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Baseball people know that the most important figure in the game's statistics is the games lost in the standings. Once you've lost them, you can't get them back.

Leader Iowa State has three losses in that important column while Oklahoma has five and Nebraska six. All other Big Eight rivals have seven or more losses.

A sweep for either Oklahoma or Nebraska in their three-game series at Norman would put that team in strong contention for the stretch run.

And the Cyclones face both of them in the final six days of the season, playing host to Oklahoma on May 17-18 and coming to Nebraska on May 21-22.

So What's All The Fuss

So what's all the fuss about from cigarette smokers, who are being asked to build a new Nebraska multi-purpose athletic and show building?

If you're a one-pack-a-day smoker (if you're more than that, you've got a complaint because you may not live to see the building completed), it's going to cost you $9.13 per year.

All you non-smokers can mail your $9.13 to NU Fieldhouse Fund, NU Coliseum, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln's Jim Arntzen, a non-smoker started the donations rollinge by mailing a nickel to Husker basketball coach Jo Cipriano the day the Legislature overrode Gov. Exon's veto of the bill.

Isn't it a strange coincidence that circumstances were quite similar between what happened to M. H. Van Berg's only Kentucky Derby starter and the last Van Berg horse he saw in a feature race?

Van Berg, who died Monday evening, was at Ak-Sar-Ben last Saturday when his Boldwood had to be scratched from the Beef State Handicap after suffering a cut between the ears in a starting gate accident.

Eleven years earlier, Van Berg's Spring Broker reared in the Kentucky Derby starting gate, but unlike Boldwood, ran the race before his injury was discovered.

But when Spring Broker, who was among the also-rans, returned to be unsaddled, he was bleeding heavily from the mouth.

Pat On The Back, And . . .

Wasn't that a great example of getting a pat on the back a kick in the you know where at the same time when Gov. J. J. replaced Joe Stanek as State Athletic Commissioner?

In the move, J. J. thanked Stanek for "excellent service that he had given to the State of Nebraska, especially in the area of supervising of Nebraska youth involved in Golden Gloves boxing." Sort of a Thank You, But salutation.

And why didn't the Governor make it clear that in order to fulfill a political favor he owed someone that he had to fire Stanek? Stanek had earlier turned down a request from Gov. J. J. that he resign.

—NU AT OU TODAY—

Sharpe Finds Right Defensive Lineup

In the schedule's first 19 games, the Huskers had fumbled along at a .910 fielding average, so Sharpe made some lineup changes for the recent Oklahoma State series. The strategy paid off as NU fielders committed only one error against the Cowboys and ended up with a .990 average for the series.

Support for the Husker pitchers (who have a respectable aggregate ERA of 3.80) is also beginning to come from the hitters. Batsmen have a solid .264 average over the last two series (Kansas and Oklahoma State), raising their aggregate by 14 points to .234. New regulars Sam Sharpe and Gene Stohs pushed their averages over .300 (.308 and .313, respectively) to join leader Pat Elgert (.357) in that elite group.

This has given Sharpe some encouragement, but he expresses doubts over the Huskers' Big Eight chances. "I haven't given up, but with six losses to Iowa State's three, our chances aren't too good," he said.

"With the two best clubs in the league, Oklahoma and Iowa State, coming up and with our pitching staff still pretty lean, we'll have an uphill fight. We can't afford to lose more than one. Over all, though, we're real pleased with the effort over the last two weeks," he concluded.

The Huskers will hit the road for the final time this spring when they go to Norman for a doubleheader today and a single contest Saturday against the tough Oklahoma Sooners.

Sharpe said he'll probably go with the same line-up he used against Oklahoma State Saturday. One possible change mentioned would be the insertion of new team member Dave Smith, a sophomore from Broken Bow, in the lineup against a lefthander. Originally a catcher, he has been working in the outfield where Sharpe has been impressed with him in practice.

Hines' No-Hitter Helps Dana Take Two From Doane

Hines struck out 16 and walked only three in hurling the 5-0 gem. Dana also won the first game, 5-3.

Doane pitchers gave up only four earned runs in the twin bill, but were hurt by eight errors.

VAN BERG TRIBUTE PAID

. . . Mundorf Wins Memorial Feature

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — In ceremonies as somber as the weather, Ak-Sar-Ben paid tribute to a man who did so much for horse racing not only in Nebraska but for the nation as well.

Before 10,249 patrons who stood as a riderless horse was led in front of the grandstand, Ak-Sar-Ben dedicated its feature race to Marion H. Van Berg, the nation's leading owner in both victories and purses for the past three years.

Van Berg, who was born in Aurora and made his home in Columbus, died Monday in an Omaha hospital after a long illness.

As the riderless black horse was led by pony boy Jerry Wilson, taps was played. Then the eight jockeys, wearing black arm bands for the race, brought their horses out for the six-furlong allowance chase.

The American flag was at half-mast in the infield and the Van Berg box in the grandstand was draped with a black flag in memory of the man who held the following world records through 1970:

—most money won in a single season — $1,453,679 in 1969.

—most years leading owner in number of wins — 14 — and most years leading both purses and number of wins — 4.

"We have not decided whether this will be an annual race or not," said Stan Bowker, Ak-Sar-Ben director of information, who added that officials decided Tuesday night to hold the race in Van Berg's memory.

Robert Mundorf, who piloted Ferns Golden Boy to the victory in the race, said that he has ridden for Van Berg for the past 23 years.

"I've always gotten along both with Mr. Van and Jack (Marion's son who trains horses). "The last Van Berg horse I rode was Zuke's Bad Boy here last year."

Ferns Golden Boy, in picking up his first victory of 1971, nipped Tim Horn, ridden by Michael Frederickson, by two lengths and Tropical Judge was third in the $5,500 scamper.

Van Berg, who campaigned in Nebraska only at Ak-Sar-Ben had nearly 300 horses win here and collected purses totaling nearly $1½ million. He was the first inductee in the Nebraska Racing Hall of Fame which was started in 1966 and last summer he was inducted into the National Racing Hall of Fame in Saratoga, N.Y.

Bill Murphy, track announcer read a brief eulogy before the race that summed up best the thoughts of many: This is a sad day for Ak-Sar-Ben and for all the thoroughbred racing world . . . We pay special tribute to Mr. Van — a man who was widely recognized as both a great gentleman and a great horseman; a man who carved out a record unparalleled in thoroughbred racing and a man who didn't know the meaning of the word retire.

Last year was his greatest year as an owner (he had been in the business since 1937) with his divided stable of 245 horses making 1,872 starts. They won 391 races for total purses of $1,347,289.

As the eulogy said "Mr. Van will be missed by everyone involved in thoroughbred racing."

HERO, BOOSTER . . . Jerry, Scott.

Young Fan Wants To Be Like Idol, Even To Hair

. . . TAGGE NO. 1 TO 4-YEAR-OLD SCOTT

Most fans will tell you that Nebraska has two outstanding quarterbacks, namely Van Brownson and Jerry Tagge, and possibly three, if you toss in frosh standout Dave Humm.

But if you ask Husker fan Scott Summers of Lincoln, he'll tell you Nebraska has only one quarterback — No. 14, Jerry Tagge.

Scott is a four-year-old, whose whole life "revolves around Jerry Tagge," according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Summers of 5451 Wilderness View.

"For over two years Scott has idolized Jerry, even to the point of getting angry when he couldn't get his hair combed exactly like Tagge's," Mrs. Summers said. "He'll stand in front of a mirror for as long as 30 minutes, looking at a picture of Jerry and trying to comb his hair the way Jerry does."

Scott finally got to meet his hero last week when he visited Nebraska spring football practice, and No. 14 took him in tow like a national championship quarterback should.

Taking him by the hand, Jerry took him to meet some other players, perched him on his knee for a long chat and got warmed up by playing catch with a football.

A little embarrassed by the idolization, Tagge grinned and joked, "This kid will go a long way — he's a great judge of character."

The Cornhusker quarterback also confided that Scott is still up-tight on the hair issue. He reported:

"Scott told his Mom, 'Why did God give me blonde hair instead of brown hair like Tagge's?"

Scott's affection for Jerry Tagge and Nebraska football isn't confined to just hair, either. At mealtime he wants to know what Jerry eats; at bedtime, he asks if "Tagge needs a lot of rest, too."

Mrs. Summers reports that Scott also wears a No. 14 on his shirts, helmet and pajamas.

Scott is no Johnny-come-lately fan, either, since he qualifies as a veteran and astute observer of the gridiron sport. A neighbor reports this conversation:

Like Jerry Tagge says, "This kid will go a long way!"

By the way, Jerry Tagge will be at the throttle of the Big Red Saturday at 1:30 p.m., when the Cornhuskers wind up spring practice with an intrasquad game at Memorial Stadium.

And his biggest booster, Scott Summers, will be cheering him on — and hoping the wind won't muss up his Tagge—cut.

Funeral Services Held For Mr. Van

. . . 'WE ARE THE LOSERS'

Van Berg, 74, whose horses won 4,691 races and $13,936,965 from 1937 through 1970, died in an Omaha hospital of a heart attack Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Croker said of Van Berg:

"The man is a success who lived well, left the world better than he found it, looked for the best and gave the best. Marion Van Berg was this type of man. He led a spectacular career as the greatest horseman thoroughbred racing has ever seen.

"Mr. Van was as fair and kind of a man that ever set foot on a race track. We are the losers in the death of this man."

Van Berg was put to rest in a grave next to his wife, Viola M. Van Berg, who died Sept. 14, 1969.

Van Berg had been in ill health for the past three years, but he remained active in supervising the operations of his vast stable until suffering a stroke last winter.

Most total victories, 4691; most races won in a single season, 393 in 1969; most money won in a single season, $1,453,679 in 1969; most total career starts, 24,278; most individual career starters, 1,865; most years as leading owner in number of wins, 14, including 11 straight titles; most years heading both the purses won and races won columns, four, and most records held by a single owner.

Huskers Sign 17 State Prep Gridders

"It's a good group. It's getting to look better all the time because some of the kids have added about 20 pounds since they played last season," says Cornhusker assistant coach Clete Fischer.

Fischer looks for line help from four Metropolitan Conference standouts—Omaha Benson's Archie Gray, Bishop Ryan's George Mills, Central's Jerry Lloyd and Creighton Prep's Tim McGuire. Gray, 6-2 and 190, is the smallest of the lot.

"He can be used as either a receiver or defensive back. He was all-league both ways last year," Osborne notes. Thornton will be joining ex-teammate Dick Rupert with the Cornhuskers.

Potter, 5-11 and 170-pound quarterback, threw for more than 3,000 yards last season and was named co-player of the year in the Los Angeles city schools.

He and Mushinskie, player of the year in the AA division of the California Interscholastic Federation, will play in the North-South Shrine Game this summer. Mushinskie is regarded as one of the top runners in the California prep ranks.

Mazon, from Anaheim, was named back of the year in the Freeway League. It was the same honor accorded Cornhusker freshman Glen Garson a year ago.

"We think these players are good ones and that they'll help our program," Osborne says.

One Too Many

Angel Cordero Jr., jockey on Kentucky Derby runner-up Jim French, complained after the race that the 20-horse field was too big.

"We could have won in a smaller field," he charged.

The wire services continue to call Colorado the primary challenger to Iowa State in the Big Eight baseball race, simply because they are second to the Cyclones in the current standings.

Phooey! The real challengers going into this weekend will both be on the same baseball field at Norman, Okla., today and Saturday. That's Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Leader Iowa State has three losses in that important column while Oklahoma has five and Nebraska six. All other Big Eight rivals have seven or more losses.

And the Cyclones face both of them in the final six days of the season, playing host to Oklahoma on May 17-18 and coming to Nebraska on May 21-22.

So What's All The Fuss

If you're a one-pack-a-day smoker (if you're more than that, you've got a complaint because you may not live to see the building completed), it's going to cost you $9.13 per year.

All you non-smokers can mail your $9.13 to NU Fieldhouse Fund, NU Coliseum, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln's Jim Arntzen, a non-smoker started the donations rollinge by mailing a nickel to Husker basketball coach Jo Cipriano the day the Legislature overrode Gov. Exon's veto of the bill.

Isn't it a strange coincidence that circumstances were quite similar between what happened to M. H. Van Berg's only Kentucky Derby starter and the last Van Berg horse he saw in a feature race?

Van Berg, who died Monday evening, was at Ak-Sar-Ben last Saturday when his Boldwood had to be scratched from the Beef State Handicap after suffering a cut between the ears in a starting gate accident.

Eleven years earlier, Van Berg's Spring Broker reared in the Kentucky Derby starting gate, but unlike Boldwood, ran the race before his injury was discovered.

But when Spring Broker, who was among the also-rans, returned to be unsaddled, he was bleeding heavily from the mouth.

Pat On The Back, And . . .

Wasn't that a great example of getting a pat on the back a kick in the you know where at the same time when Gov. J. J. replaced Joe Stanek as State Athletic Commissioner?

In the move, J. J. thanked Stanek for "excellent service that he had given to the State of Nebraska, especially in the area of supervising of Nebraska youth involved in Golden Gloves boxing." Sort of a Thank You, But salutation.

And why didn't the Governor make it clear that in order to fulfill a political favor he owed someone that he had to fire Stanek? Stanek had earlier turned down a request from Gov. J. J. that he resign.

Sharpe Finds Right Defensive Lineup

In the schedule's first 19 games, the Huskers had fumbled along at a .910 fielding average, so Sharpe made some lineup changes for the recent Oklahoma State series. The strategy paid off as NU fielders committed only one error against the Cowboys and ended up with a .990 average for the series.

Support for the Husker pitchers (who have a respectable aggregate ERA of 3.80) is also beginning to come from the hitters. Batsmen have a solid .264 average over the last two series (Kansas and Oklahoma State), raising their aggregate by 14 points to .234. New regulars Sam Sharpe and Gene Stohs pushed their averages over .300 (.308 and .313, respectively) to join leader Pat Elgert (.357) in that elite group.

This has given Sharpe some encouragement, but he expresses doubts over the Huskers' Big Eight chances. "I haven't given up, but with six losses to Iowa State's three, our chances aren't too good," he said.

"With the two best clubs in the league, Oklahoma and Iowa State, coming up and with our pitching staff still pretty lean, we'll have an uphill fight. We can't afford to lose more than one. Over all, though, we're real pleased with the effort over the last two weeks," he concluded.

The Huskers will hit the road for the final time this spring when they go to Norman for a doubleheader today and a single contest Saturday against the tough Oklahoma Sooners.

Sharpe said he'll probably go with the same line-up he used against Oklahoma State Saturday. One possible change mentioned would be the insertion of new team member Dave Smith, a sophomore from Broken Bow, in the lineup against a lefthander. Originally a catcher, he has been working in the outfield where Sharpe has been impressed with him in practice.

Hines' No-Hitter Helps Dana Take Two From Doane

Hines struck out 16 and walked only three in hurling the 5-0 gem. Dana also won the first game, 5-3.

Doane pitchers gave up only four earned runs in the twin bill, but were hurt by eight errors.

VAN BERG TRIBUTE PAID

. . . Mundorf Wins Memorial Feature

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — In ceremonies as somber as the weather, Ak-Sar-Ben paid tribute to a man who did so much for horse racing not only in Nebraska but for the nation as well.

Before 10,249 patrons who stood as a riderless horse was led in front of the grandstand, Ak-Sar-Ben dedicated its feature race to Marion H. Van Berg, the nation's leading owner in both victories and purses for the past three years.

Van Berg, who was born in Aurora and made his home in Columbus, died Monday in an Omaha hospital after a long illness.

As the riderless black horse was led by pony boy Jerry Wilson, taps was played. Then the eight jockeys, wearing black arm bands for the race, brought their horses out for the six-furlong allowance chase.

The American flag was at half-mast in the infield and the Van Berg box in the grandstand was draped with a black flag in memory of the man who held the following world records through 1970:

—most money won in a single season — $1,453,679 in 1969.

—most years leading owner in number of wins — 14 — and most years leading both purses and number of wins — 4.

"We have not decided whether this will be an annual race or not," said Stan Bowker, Ak-Sar-Ben director of information, who added that officials decided Tuesday night to hold the race in Van Berg's memory.

Robert Mundorf, who piloted Ferns Golden Boy to the victory in the race, said that he has ridden for Van Berg for the past 23 years.

"I've always gotten along both with Mr. Van and Jack (Marion's son who trains horses). "The last Van Berg horse I rode was Zuke's Bad Boy here last year."

Ferns Golden Boy, in picking up his first victory of 1971, nipped Tim Horn, ridden by Michael Frederickson, by two lengths and Tropical Judge was third in the $5,500 scamper.

Van Berg, who campaigned in Nebraska only at Ak-Sar-Ben had nearly 300 horses win here and collected purses totaling nearly $1½ million. He was the first inductee in the Nebraska Racing Hall of Fame which was started in 1966 and last summer he was inducted into the National Racing Hall of Fame in Saratoga, N.Y.

Bill Murphy, track announcer read a brief eulogy before the race that summed up best the thoughts of many: This is a sad day for Ak-Sar-Ben and for all the thoroughbred racing world . . . We pay special tribute to Mr. Van — a man who was widely recognized as both a great gentleman and a great horseman; a man who carved out a record unparalleled in thoroughbred racing and a man who didn't know the meaning of the word retire.

Last year was his greatest year as an owner (he had been in the business since 1937) with his divided stable of 245 horses making 1,872 starts. They won 391 races for total purses of $1,347,289.

As the eulogy said "Mr. Van will be missed by everyone involved in thoroughbred racing."

HERO, BOOSTER . . . Jerry, Scott.

Young Fan Wants To Be Like Idol, Even To Hair

. . . TAGGE NO. 1 TO 4-YEAR-OLD SCOTT

Most fans will tell you that Nebraska has two outstanding quarterbacks, namely Van Brownson and Jerry Tagge, and possibly three, if you toss in frosh standout Dave Humm.

But if you ask Husker fan Scott Summers of Lincoln, he'll tell you Nebraska has only one quarterback — No. 14, Jerry Tagge.

Scott is a four-year-old, whose whole life "revolves around Jerry Tagge," according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Summers of 5451 Wilderness View.

"For over two years Scott has idolized Jerry, even to the point of getting angry when he couldn't get his hair combed exactly like Tagge's," Mrs. Summers said. "He'll stand in front of a mirror for as long as 30 minutes, looking at a picture of Jerry and trying to comb his hair the way Jerry does."

Scott finally got to meet his hero last week when he visited Nebraska spring football practice, and No. 14 took him in tow like a national championship quarterback should.

Taking him by the hand, Jerry took him to meet some other players, perched him on his knee for a long chat and got warmed up by playing catch with a football.

A little embarrassed by the idolization, Tagge grinned and joked, "This kid will go a long way — he's a great judge of character."

The Cornhusker quarterback also confided that Scott is still up-tight on the hair issue. He reported:

"Scott told his Mom, 'Why did God give me blonde hair instead of brown hair like Tagge's?"

Scott's affection for Jerry Tagge and Nebraska football isn't confined to just hair, either. At mealtime he wants to know what Jerry eats; at bedtime, he asks if "Tagge needs a lot of rest, too."

Mrs. Summers reports that Scott also wears a No. 14 on his shirts, helmet and pajamas.

Scott is no Johnny-come-lately fan, either, since he qualifies as a veteran and astute observer of the gridiron sport. A neighbor reports this conversation:

Like Jerry Tagge says, "This kid will go a long way!"

By the way, Jerry Tagge will be at the throttle of the Big Red Saturday at 1:30 p.m., when the Cornhuskers wind up spring practice with an intrasquad game at Memorial Stadium.

And his biggest booster, Scott Summers, will be cheering him on — and hoping the wind won't muss up his Tagge—cut.

Funeral Services Held For Mr. Van

. . . 'WE ARE THE LOSERS'

Van Berg, 74, whose horses won 4,691 races and $13,936,965 from 1937 through 1970, died in an Omaha hospital of a heart attack Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Croker said of Van Berg:

"The man is a success who lived well, left the world better than he found it, looked for the best and gave the best. Marion Van Berg was this type of man. He led a spectacular career as the greatest horseman thoroughbred racing has ever seen.

"Mr. Van was as fair and kind of a man that ever set foot on a race track. We are the losers in the death of this man."

Van Berg was put to rest in a grave next to his wife, Viola M. Van Berg, who died Sept. 14, 1969.

Van Berg had been in ill health for the past three years, but he remained active in supervising the operations of his vast stable until suffering a stroke last winter.

Through last year his world records included:

Most total victories, 4691; most races won in a single season, 393 in 1969; most money won in a single season, $1,453,679 in 1969; most total career starts, 24,278; most individual career starters, 1,865; most years as leading owner in number of wins, 14, including 11 straight titles; most years heading both the purses won and races won columns, four, and most records held by a single owner.

Van Berg once observed, "winning is the name of the game. However, if you can't win the race, try to be second. And if you can't get second money, try for third."

His career record included 3,891 seconds and 3,287 thirds.

Huskers Sign 17 State Prep Gridders

"It's a good group. It's getting to look better all the time because some of the kids have added about 20 pounds since they played last season," says Cornhusker assistant coach Clete Fischer.

Fischer looks for line help from four Metropolitan Conference standouts—Omaha Benson's Archie Gray, Bishop Ryan's George Mills, Central's Jerry Lloyd and Creighton Prep's Tim McGuire. Gray, 6-2 and 190, is the smallest of the lot.

"He can be used as either a receiver or defensive back. He was all-league both ways last year," Osborne notes. Thornton will be joining ex-teammate Dick Rupert with the Cornhuskers.

Miller, a 6-3, 230-pounder from Costa Mesa, is the son of Jake Miller, a former coach in Nebraska high school ranks.

Potter, 5-11 and 170-pound quarterback, threw for more than 3,000 yards last season and was named co-player of the year in the Los Angeles city schools.

He and Mushinskie, player of the year in the AA division of the California Interscholastic Federation, will play in the North-South Shrine Game this summer. Mushinskie is regarded as one of the top runners in the California prep ranks.

Mazon, from Anaheim, was named back of the year in the Freeway League. It was the same honor accorded Cornhusker freshman Glen Garson a year ago.

"We think these players are good ones and that they'll help our program," Osborne says.

Nebraska track coach Frank Sevigne announced the signing of North Platte's Bill Lauer, the defending state pole vault champion, as the first recruit in the Cornhusker fold.

Dynastic Loses Spark; Will Miss Preakness

. . . EXECUTIONER ARRIVES AT PIMLICO

Baltimore (AP) — Dynastic was withdrawn from the $150,000 Preakness Thursday, on the eve of an allowance race which is expected to further reduce the field for next week's classic.

Trainer John Gayer reported from New York that Dynastic "seems to have lost his spark" and said the colt's third-place finish in the Blue Grass Stakes was a "terrible race."

The prep, at 1 1-16 miles, drew an outstanding field of eight sophomores including Limit To Reason and Royal J.D.

Of the field, only Sonastes Choice is not eligible for the 1 3-16 mile Preakness on May 15 and owner Frank C. Tortora would have to ante a $10,000 supplementary fee for that privilege.

In addition to winning the Flamingo, Executioner was second in the Florida Derby and third in the Wood Memorial. Limited To Reason won the Pimlico-Laurel Futurity last year and the Champagne Stakes after Hoist the Flag was disqualified.

Gogetthemoney accompanied Executioner on the van from New York, and will go in the prep, along with Sense A Fear, Sound Off and Spouting Horn.

Executioner was assigned top weight of 122 pounds, five more than Limit To Reason and Royal J.D., who won the Allegheny Stakes at Liberty Bell and will be ridden by Bill Hartack for the first time.

The prep and the $50,000-added Withers Stakes at Aqueduct on Saturday will go a long way toward determining the field for the Preakness.

If the Withers and the prep produce about three starters each, the Preakness could go off with 12 starters — as compared with 20 when Canonero II won the Kentucky Derby.

What?! Snead To Pass Up U.S. Open Try

New York (AP) — Sam Snead, who has tried unsuccessfully for 33 years, finally has decided to give up in his bid for the U.S. Open golf title.

The U.S. Golf Association, announcing Thursday that a record 4,335 filed for the 71st championship June 17-20 at the Merion Golf Club in Ardmore, Pa., said Snead's name was conspicuously missing.

Jacklin will be one of the 35 players exempt from qualifying. The other 4,300 players must vie for spots in the 150-man field in local tests May 24-25 and regional tests June 7-8.

Angotti Sparkles As Black Hawks Drop Canadiens

Chicago (AP) — Utilityman Lou Angotti scored a pair of unassisted goals in the third period Thursday night as the firedup Chicago Black Hawks charged to a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Canadiens in the second game of their National Hockey League Stanley Cup championship series.

The victory gave the Hawks a 2-0 edge in the best-of-seven series which continues with a nationally-televised game scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Montreal.

Angotti, the Hawsk' handyman. connected after Chicago had bounced back with a pair of goals less than two minutes apart midway in the second period to take the lead.

Dynastic Loses Spark; Will Miss Preakness

. . . EXECUTIONER ARRIVES AT PIMLICO

Baltimore (AP) — Dynastic was withdrawn from the $150,000 Preakness Thursday, on the eve of an allowance race which is expected to further reduce the field for next week's classic.

Trainer John Gayer reported from New York that Dynastic "seems to have lost his spark" and said the colt's third-place finish in the Blue Grass Stakes was a "terrible race."

Meanwhile, Executioner, the Flamingo winner, arrived at Pimlico Race Course some four hours after being entered in Friday's $12,000 Preakness prep.

The prep, at 1 1-16 miles, drew an outstanding field of eight sophomores including Limit To Reason and Royal J.D.

Of the field, only Sonastes Choice is not eligible for the 1 3-16 mile Preakness on May 15 and owner Frank C. Tortora would have to ante a $10,000 supplementary fee for that privilege.

In addition to winning the Flamingo, Executioner was second in the Florida Derby and third in the Wood Memorial. Limited To Reason won the Pimlico-Laurel Futurity last year and the Champagne Stakes after Hoist the Flag was disqualified.

Gogetthemoney accompanied Executioner on the van from New York, and will go in the prep, along with Sense A Fear, Sound Off and Spouting Horn.

Executioner was assigned top weight of 122 pounds, five more than Limit To Reason and Royal J.D., who won the Allegheny Stakes at Liberty Bell and will be ridden by Bill Hartack for the first time.

The prep and the $50,000-added Withers Stakes at Aqueduct on Saturday will go a long way toward determining the field for the Preakness.

If the Withers and the prep produce about three starters each, the Preakness could go off with 12 starters — as compared with 20 when Canonero II won the Kentucky Derby.

What?! Snead To Pass Up U.S. Open Try

New York (AP) — Sam Snead, who has tried unsuccessfully for 33 years, finally has decided to give up in his bid for the U.S. Open golf title.

The U.S. Golf Association, announcing Thursday that a record 4,335 filed for the 71st championship June 17-20 at the Merion Golf Club in Ardmore, Pa., said Snead's name was conspicuously missing.

"We have no explanation on why Sam did not enter," a spokesman said.

The list far exceeds the record 3,605 set last year when the title was won by Britain's Tony Jacklin.

Jacklin will be one of the 35 players exempt from qualifying. The other 4,300 players must vie for spots in the 150-man field in local tests May 24-25 and regional tests June 7-8.

Angotti Sparkles As Black Hawks Drop Canadiens

Chicago (AP) — Utilityman Lou Angotti scored a pair of unassisted goals in the third period Thursday night as the firedup Chicago Black Hawks charged to a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Canadiens in the second game of their National Hockey League Stanley Cup championship series.

The victory gave the Hawks a 2-0 edge in the best-of-seven series which continues with a nationally-televised game scheduled for Sunday afternoon in Montreal.

Angotti, the Hawsk' handyman, connected after Chicago had bounced back with a pair of goals less than two minutes apart midway in the second period to take the lead.

McGee Shunning 'Rabbit Ranks'

. . . UNKNOWN TWO SHOTS UP IN BYRON NELSON CLASSIC

Dallas (AP) — Jerry McGee, a refugee from the rabbit ranks, fired a 66 and took a two-stroke lead in the first round of the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic Thursday.

All the afternoon starters played under dark, glowering skies and in winds that gusted to 35 miles an hour and threatened to blow out the round.

McGee, who has yet to win in his five years on the pro tour, was ahead of a group of six tied at 68. Lee Trevino, winner at Tallahassee Open two weeks ago and former Masters champion Gay Brewer, headed that bunch.

The others are veteran Bob Stone, Ted Hayes, John Schlee and Ed Sneed, all long-shots in the strong field of 147.

Arnold Palmer matched par 70.

"It wasn't too bad, considering the way I started," said Palmer, who had to rally strongly after taking bogeys on three of his first five holes.

"It wasn't very exciting," noted Nicklaus, who had two-putt pars on his first nine holes. "But it's a pretty good start. Anytime you are in the 60s on the first round on a good golf course it's okay."

"I'm satisfied," said Trevino. "A 68 is a good score on this course."

McGee, who has never had an exemption and must qualify on Monday's if he is not otherwise eligible for tournament competition, has never won.

His best finish was third in the National Airlines this year, and his earnings of more than $26,000 already this season is his career high.

Laver Makes Finals

Rome (AP) — Australian Rod Laver gained the men's quarter-finals in the Italian Open Tennis Championships Thursday by beating Ezio De Matteo of Italy 6-4, 6-1.

Tom Hunters Recover After Early Bad Luck

Turkey hunters during Nebraska's recently completed spring season recovered from bad weather and poor hunting conditions on opening weekend to post a success ratio of 23 percent, about comparable to past seasons.

Nebraska's first spring turkey season was held in 1964. From that time through 1970, 7,292 permits were issued and 1,600 toms taken, for a 7-year average of 22 percent success. Some 1,192 permits were issued for the 1971 hunt, and Game and Parks Commission stations checked in 269 gobblers during the 1971 season.

Gunners in the Round Top unit, the state's major turkey range, faced rain, snow, and chilly weather during the opening weekend. However, conditions there improved the following week, allowing 159 hunters to score for a success ratio in that area of 21 percent. Last year, a blizzard cut success there to 13 percent.

Hunters in the Verdigre unit registered the best success, with 17 of 25 permit holders taking toms, for a 68 percent success figure. Gobblers in that area are less wary and easier to bag, however, because the birds stocked there by private landowners were crossed with domestic turkeys. Last spring, the Verdigre unit posted a success ratio of 28 percent.

Other units and percentage of success include: Halsey, 4 percent; Niobrara, 24; Southwest, 21, and Wildcat, 22.

Basketball Camp Headed By Top State Coaches

Top prep and college coaches from all parts of Nebraska will form the staff of the sixth annual Cornhusker Basketball School, NU coach Joe Cipriano has announced.

Joe Garagiola has a sporting proposition for you

Speed your route to fun with a fast and shifty, neat and nifty SCAMPER Riding Mower from Allis-Chalmers. Fingertip handling and shift-on-the-go HYDRO-CONE automatic drive give you more moves than an all star shortstop. And for bigger lawns there's a whole lineup of Allis-Chalmers lawn and garden tractors — from the all new 14 horsepower down to a husky little 6 — with plenty of accessories to take on all your yard work. Hauling, plowing, grading, tilling, spraying, and more. For smaller lawns there are five great rotary mowers . . . three of them with folding handles for easy storage.

So hurry in to your Allis-Chalmers dealer and see his complete line of work savers including rotary tillers, chain saws and snow throwers. Everything you need to ease your chores from spring 'til fall, and winter too. Now how's that for a sporting proposition?

You'll find your nearest Allis-Chalmers Outdoor Products dealer in the Yellow Pages under Lawn Mowers. Just tell him Joe sent you.

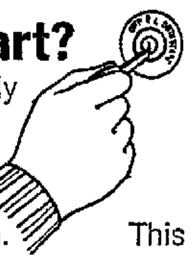
Are you one of those men or women who always thought you'd enjoy the challenge of learning to fly but just never got around to it? Perhaps you think it's too complicated...or you're too old...or it takes too long. Here are the facts. It's not complicated. There's no maximum age limit (teenagers and grandmothers learn with equal ease)...and you can probably become an expert pilot in less time than it would take you to become an expert skier or golfer.

To show you how simple it is, let's take a preview run through your first lesson in a Piper Cherokee.

How do you start?

Before you actually fly any airplane you and your instructor give it a step-by-step walkaround inspection. This is just one of the many safety checks that are routine in any flight.



When you climb into the pilot's seat you may say, "Look at all those instruments!" But they're easy to sort out. Many of them are familiar from your car—the speedometer, clock, oil pressure gauges and the like. Others have obvious uses in flying—like the altimeter to tell you how high you are, and the compass to tell you your direction.

Start-up is as simple as starting a car. Just turn the key. (That old movie stuff about "Contact!" and swinging the propeller is out.)

The take-off

Lined up on the runway, you apply power by pushing the throttle forward. As you pick up speed, your wide-track Piper tricycle landing gear keeps you rolling straight and true.

At take-off speed—about 65 mph in a Piper Cherokee—you ease back on the control wheel, the wings take on lift, and you're flying.

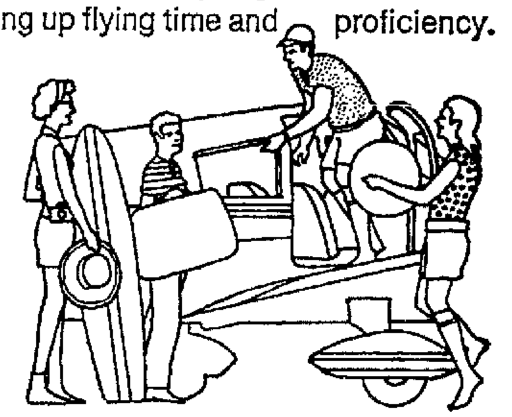
The landing

Thanks to the modern, low wing design of your Piper Cherokee, you literally land on a "cushion" of air that builds up under the wings as you approach the ground. You touch down feather-light every time. Your instructor will show how to ease up on the control wheel so that the nose is raised a trifle and the plane settles on its air "cushion" to a perfect landing.

Your first solo

From then on it's just a matter of following the step-by-step course used by Piper Flite Centers coast to coast. You'll become a skilled pilot in easy stages; improve with each successive lesson.

Most people solo after 8 to 12 hours of instruction. From then on the fun keeps mounting. Under your instructor's guidance, you go off alone building up flying time and proficiency.



Earning your license

Students who follow the Piper Flite Center program usually get their private license in about 50 hours of flight time (compared to an average of 65 hours or more at non-Piper schools).

McGee Shunning 'Rabbit Ranks'

. . . UNKNOWN TWO SHOTS UP IN BYRON NELSON CLASSIC

Dallas (AP) — Jerry McGee, a refugee from the rabbit ranks, fired a 66 and took a two-stroke lead in the first round of the $125,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic Thursday.

The 27-year-old McGee posted his four-under-par round early in the day before a tornado watch went up on the 7,031-yard Preston Trail Golf Club course.

All the afternoon starters played under dark, glowering skies and in winds that gusted to 35 miles an hour and threatened to blow out the round.

McGee, who has yet to win in his five years on the pro tour, was ahead of a group of six tied at 68. Lee Trevino, winner at Tallahassee Open two weeks ago and former Masters champion Gay Brewer, headed that bunch.

The others are veteran Bob Stone, Ted Hayes, John Schlee and Ed Sneed, all long-shots in the strong field of 147.

Arnold Palmer matched par 70.

"It wasn't too bad, considering the way I started," said Palmer, who had to rally strongly after taking bogeys on three of his first five holes.

"It wasn't very exciting," noted Nicklaus, who had two-putt pars on his first nine holes. "But it's a pretty good start. Anytime you are in the 60s on the first round on a good golf course it's okay."

"I'm satisfied," said Trevino. "A 68 is a good score on this course."

McGee, who has never had an exemption and must qualify on Monday's if he is not otherwise eligible for tournament competition, has never won.

His best finish was third in the National Airlines this year, and his earnings of more than $26,000 already this season is his career high.

Laver Makes Finals

Rome (AP) — Australian Rod Laver gained the men's quarter-finals in the Italian Open Tennis Championships Thursday by beating Ezio De Matteo of Italy 6-4, 6-1.

Tom Hunters Recover After Early Bad Luck

Turkey hunters during Nebraska's recently completed spring season recovered from bad weather and poor hunting conditions on opening weekend to post a success ratio of 23 percent, about comparable to past seasons.

Nebraska's first spring turkey season was held in 1964. From that time through 1970, 7,292 permits were issued and 1,600 toms taken, for a 7-year average of 22 percent success. Some 1,192 permits were issued for the 1971 hunt, and Game and Parks Commission stations checked in 269 gobblers during the 1971 season.

Gunners in the Round Top unit, the state's major turkey range, faced rain, snow, and chilly weather during the opening weekend. However, conditions there improved the following week, allowing 159 hunters to score for a success ratio in that area of 21 percent. Last year, a blizzard cut success there to 13 percent.

Hunters in the Verdigre unit registered the best success, with 17 of 25 permit holders taking toms, for a 68 percent success figure. Gobblers in that area are less wary and easier to bag, however, because the birds stocked there by private landowners were crossed with domestic turkeys. Last spring, the Verdigre unit posted a success ratio of 28 percent.

Other units and percentage of success include: Halsey, 4 percent; Niobrara, 24; Southwest, 21, and Wildcat, 22.

Basketball Camp Headed By Top State Coaches

Top prep and college coaches from all parts of Nebraska will form the staff of the sixth annual Cornhusker Basketball School, NU coach Joe Cipriano has announced.

The annual basketball camp, held on the Nebraska campus, opens a four-week tour on June 6.

Stock Market Hit By Selling Wave

Declines on the New York Stock Exchange led advances by more than 2 to 1. And the Big Board's index of some 1,300 stocks dropped 0.32 to 56.88. The picture was brighter for the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed off 2.53 points at 937.39.

Big Board trading rose 19.3 million shares from 17.27 million Wednesday.

Losses ran through motors, rubber issues, airlines, building materials, and glamour stocks. All other groups were mixed.

For much of the session the market continued to recover from a deep and broad early loss Wednesday resulting from news that major European central banks had withdrawn their support of the dollar. Toward the close of Thursday's session, however, the market began to sink swiftly.

On Wednesday, despite an early selloff, the Dow industrial average closed ahead nearly 1½ points, and the New York Stock Exchange index lost only two cents.

Of the 1,702 issues traded on the Big Board Thursday, 947 declined, and 463 advanced. New yearly highs were reached by 105 issues and lows by 25.

The Associated Press 60-stock average slipped 1.7 to 329.5. Industrials were off 1.5, rails were off 1.0, and utilities were off 1.7. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped .55 to 103.23.

The most-active Big Board issue was General Foods up ⅛ at 37⅝ on a volume of 425,000 shares. A 316,000-share block of the issue, the largest of the session, traded at 37½.

The American Stock Exchange index declined .17 to 26.32. Of the 1,152 issues traded, 672 declined and 256 advanced. Volume rose to 5.16 million shares from 4.82 million shares Wednesday.

Butcher Hogs Turn Steady, Some Weak

Sows were steady.

Receipts were estimated at around 7,000, about 2,300 under last week and putting the total for the four days at 26,751 against 34,934 for the same four day period a week earlier.

Locally, Thursday, bulk 190-240 lb. butchers sold 17.00-18.00 about a deck 222 lbs. 18.10.

Narrowed demand forced the small supply of slaughter steers and heifers on hand to move at weak to 25 lower prices. The slow trading pace was attributed to the volume most buyers have on hand.

Omaha (AP) — Department of Agriculture reports from most terminal markets were unavailable Thursday but Bill Yancy Commodities, Omaha, which subscribes to a private market reporting service, had this information on livestock trading:

Sioux City — butcher hogs steady to 25 higher at 15-18.25; sows steady to 25 lower at 15-15.50. Steers and heifers steady; cows steady; few steers 27.50-33; heifers 27-32.25; beef cows 20-23; canner-cutter 18-20.50.

St. Joseph — butcher hogs weak to 25 lower at 15.50-17.75, sows steady at 15-15.75. Cows steady at 18-22; bulls 25-50.27.75.

Kansas City — butcher hogs steady to 25 higher at 15-18; sows steady to weak at 14.50-15.50. Feeder steers steady; feeder heifers strong; choice thin steer calves 325-375 lbs 41-43; choice thin 350-450 lbs 39-42; 400-500 lbs 37-39.50; 500-600 lbs 35-37.50; 600-700 lbs 33-35.50; choice fleshy 400-550 lbs 34-37; 550-750 lbs 32.50-35, high-good to mostly choice fleshy and warmed up 600-800 lbs 32-33.50; 800-950 lbs 31-32.50; good and choice 825-1,000 lbs 30.50-31.50; good thin 300-500 lbs 33.50-36.50; 500-700 lbs 31.50-34; good fleshy 600-950 lbs 28.50-31.50; choice thin heifer calves 300-350 lbs 35-37; 350-400 lbs 33.50-35; 400-500 lbs 31-33.50; 475-575 lbs 31-32.

Direct Cattle Sales

Omaha (AP) (USDA) — Direct Cattle Market Thursday: Sales were confirmed on 5,100 head of slaughter steers and heifers sold direct from feedlots in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska as compared to 6,950 head sold during the same period a week ago. About 65% of the confirmed volume sold delivered alive, the balance sold on a carcass basis.

Slaughter steers and heifers sold delivered alive to packing plants with weighing conditions equivalent to 3% shrink at the feedlots were steady. Steers choice and prime 1,100-1,500 lbs 33-33.75; choice 1,000-1,250 lbs 32.50-33.25; few loads 32.25-32.50; good 1,200-1,350 lb Holsteins 27.50-28.25, some good-choice 28.35-28.75. Choice heifers 875-1,050 lbs 32-32.75. On a dressed basis steers and heifers steady, instances 50 lower. Weight only-steers high-good to prime 500-900 lbs 51.50-52.50, mostly under 520 heifers good to mostly choice 500-700 lbs 51-51.50, some to 52. Dressed prices based on hot weights.

Carlot Meat Market

Omaha (AP) (USDA) — Carlot meat Thursday: Beef trade at Missouri River terminals and at outlets in interior Iowa was slow, demand good. Commodities Close Higher

Chicago (AP) — Commodity futures prices gyrated rather uncertainly through most of the session on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday, then closed mostly higher.

The apparent nervousness of the trade was laid directly to uncertaintty concerning some European currencies and their possible effects on exports of agricultural products from the United States to Europe.

The previous session, soybeans closed nearly 5 cents a bushel higher, while wheat futures advanced 2¼ cents and corn 1 cent. On Thursday's opening, all three commodities were under heavy selling pressure.

Trade thinking was that with revaluation of the West German mark still in doubt along with the future of some other European currencies, local futures should be sold for profit or speculatively. Soybeans descended some 2 cents, wheat and corn around 1 cent.

At the close, soybeans were unchanged 1⅞ cents a bushel higher, May 2.96¾; wheat was 2 cents lower in the nearby May option to 1¼ higher, May 1.58½; corn was ½ to 2 cents higher, May 1.45; and oats were ⅜ to ⅞ higher, May 68⅛.

Boy, 13, Assumes Undercover Role In Drug Buying

Lt. Eugene Stack, head of the vice unit, commented: "We don't recommend self-appointed undercover agents."

ORDINANCE NO. 10148

AN ORDINANCE accepting and approving the plat of PINE LAKE 4th ADDITION, as an addition within three miles of the corporate limits of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, filed in the office of the Planning Department of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska upon certain terms and conditions herein specified; and declaring an emergency.

WHEREAS, Pine Lake Corporation, a corporation, owner of two parcels of land situated in the Southeast Quarter of Section 15, Township 9 North, Range 7 East of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Lancaster County, Nebraska, the northern most parcel described as follows:

Beginning at the eastern most corner of Lot 103, Pine Lake Second Addition and extending south 41 degrees 40½ minutes east 9.7 feet; thence north 37 degrees 28 minutes east 60.0 feet; thence north 41 degrees 40½ minutes west 149.7 feet; thence north 48 degrees 19½ minutes east 20.2 feet to the point of curvature; thence along a circular curve to the left having a central angle of 70 degrees 33 minutes, radius of 199.94 feet, tangent of 141.2 feet; and an arc length of 245.8 feet to the point of tangency; thence north 22 degrees 13½ minutes west 19.8 feet; thence north 67 degrees 46½ minutes east 180.0 feet; thence south 4 degrees degrees 00 minutes east 301.6 feet; thence south 47 degrees 28 minutes west 70.2 feet; thence south 4 degrees 25 minutes east 294.2 feet; thence south 30 degrees 53 minutes east 206.5 feet; thence south 1 degree 49 minutes east 20.0 feet; thence south 29 degrees 15 minutes west 198.4 feet; thence south 84 degrees 53 minutes west 203.1 feet; thence north 39 degrees 16 minutes west 163.2 feet; thence north 38 degrees 20 minutes west 299.5 feet; thence north 48 degrees 12 minutes east 143.0 feet to the point of beginning; and the southern most parcel described as follows:

Beginning at the southwest corner of Lot 71, Pine Lake Second Addition and extending north 76 degrees 13 minutes east 140.8 feet; thence south 11 degrees 11 minutes east 280.2 feet; thence south 89 degrees 48 minutes east 350.0 feet; thence south 0 degrees 15 minutes west 183.0 feet; thence north 89 degrees 48 minutes west 473.3 feet; thence north 0 degrees 02 minutes east 33.0 feet to the point of curvature; thence along a circular curve to the left having a central angle of 13 degrees 49 minutes, radius of 995.66 feet, tangent of 120.6 feet, and an arc length of 240.1 feet to the point of tengency; thence north 13 degrees 47 minutes west 157.8 feet to the point of beginning; has platted said real estate under the designation of PINE LAKE 4th ADDITION, and has filed said plat in the office of the Planning Department of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, with a request for approval and acceptance thereof in the manner and form as by ordinance required; and

WHEREAS, it is for the convenience of the inhabitants of said City of Lincoln, Nebraska and for the public that said plat be approved and accepted as filed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska:

Section 1. That the grades of certain streets in Pine Lake 4th Addition, as an addition within three miles of the corporate limits of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, be and they hereby are established with reference to a datum place, which is located as follows: Bench mark cut in water table at the northeast corner of the City Hall Building (at 10th and "O" Streets) is 79.94 feet above datum plane.

The grades hereby established shall be uniform straight lines between adjacent points hereinafter specified in said streets and between the grade points heretofore established by ordinance in adjacent streets.

Section 2. Grade at a point in Perry Circle 100 feet south of the south line of Eastshore Drive: east side 50.0, west side 50.0; provided, however, that the grades established in this section shall be considered as points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 100 feet long.

Section 3. Grade at a point in Perry Circle 450 feet south of the south line of Eastshore Drive: East side 71.0, west side 71.0; provided, however, that the grades established in this section shall be considered as points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 100 feet long.

Section 5. That the plat of Pine Lake 4th Addition, filed in the office of the Planning Department of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, by Pine Lake Corporation, a corporation, as owner, be and it hereby is accepted and approved, and said owner be and it hereby is given the right to plat said Pine Lake 4th Addition, as an addition within three miles of the corporate limits of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, in accordance therewith. Such acceptance and approval are conditioned upon the following:

First: That the owner above set forth shall at its own cost and expense, pay for all labor, materials, engineering and inspection costs in connection with street grading within the plat, and that said owner shall bring the streets within the plat to the officially established grades therefor as set forth hereinabove; and that at such time as said streets shall be paved, the paving shall be constructed to City of Lincoln Standard Specifications, shall be of a thickness and width approved by the City Director of Public Works and shall be constructed under the supervision of the City Public Works Department.

Second: That within the plat of Pine Lake 4th Addition the installation of a water supply system and sewage disposal system shall be subject to and bound by the terms and conditions of the Agreement entered into on September 5, 1961, by and between Pine Lake Corporation, Pine Lake Association, and the City of Lincoln; provided, however, the installation of such private water supply system and private sewage disposal system shall also be subject to approval of the City Director of Public Works.

Section 6. On or before the effective date of this ordinance, the owner shall file a certified copy of the same in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lancaster County, Nebraska.

Section 7. Whereas an emergency exists, this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Stock Market Hit By Selling Wave

New York (AP) — A wave of selling activity, which some analysts attributed to investor uncertainty over the international monetary crisis, hammered down stock prices Thursday.

Declines on the New York Stock Exchange led advances by more than 2 to 1. And the Big Board's index of some 1,300 stocks dropped 0.32 to 56.88. The picture was brighter for the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which closed off 2.53 points at 937.39.

Big Board trading rose 19.3 million shares from 17.27 million Wednesday.

Losses ran through motors, rubber issues, airlines, building materials, and glamour stocks. All other groups were mixed.

For much of the session the market continued to recover from a deep and broad early loss Wednesday resulting from news that major European central banks had withdrawn their support of the dollar. Toward the close of Thursday's session, however, the market began to sink swiftly.

On Wednesday, despite an early selloff, the Dow industrial average closed ahead nearly 1½ points, and the New York Stock Exchange index lost only two cents.

Of the 1,702 issues traded on the Big Board Thursday, 947 declined, and 463 advanced. New yearly highs were reached by 105 issues and lows by 25.

The Associated Press 60-stock average slipped 1.7 to 329.5. Industrials were off 1.5, rails were off 1.0, and utilities were off 1.7. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped .55 to 103.23.

The most-active Big Board issue was General Foods up ⅛ at 37⅝ on a volume of 425,000 shares. A 316,000-share block of the issue, the largest of the session, traded at 37½.

The American Stock Exchange index declined .17 to 26.32. Of the 1,152 issues traded, 672 declined and 256 advanced. Volume rose to 5.16 million shares from 4.82 million shares Wednesday.

Butcher Hogs Turn Steady, Some Weak

Sows were steady.

Receipts were estimated at around 7,000, about 2,300 under last week and putting the total for the four days at 26,751 against 34,934 for the same four day period a week earlier.

Locally, Thursday, bulk 190-240 lb. butchers sold 17.00-18.00 about a deck 222 lbs. 18.10.

Narrowed demand forced the small supply of slaughter steers and heifers on hand to move at weak to 25 lower prices. The slow trading pace was attributed to the volume most buyers have on hand.

Bulk choice steers 950-1,250 lbs. sold 32.00-33.00 choice heifers were mostly 31.25-32.60.

Omaha (AP) — Department of Agriculture reports from most terminal markets were unavailable Thursday but Bill Yancy Commodities, Omaha, which subscribes to a private market reporting service, had this information on livestock trading:

Sioux City — butcher hogs steady to 25 higher at 15-18.25; sows steady to 25 lower at 15-15.50. Steers and heifers steady; cows steady; few steers 27.50-33; heifers 27-32.25; beef cows 20-23; canner-cutter 18-20.50.

St. Joseph — butcher hogs weak to 25 lower at 15.50-17.75, sows steady at 15-15.75. Cows steady at 18-22; bulls 25-50.27.75.

Kansas City — butcher hogs steady to 25 higher at 15-18; sows steady to weak at 14.50-15.50. Feeder steers steady; feeder heifers strong; choice thin steer calves 325-375 lbs 41-43; choice thin 350-450 lbs 39-42; 400-500 lbs 37-39.50; 500-600 lbs 35-37.50; 600-700 lbs 33-35.50; choice fleshy 400-550 lbs 34-37; 550-750 lbs 32.50-35; high-good to mostly choice fleshy and warmed up 600-800 lbs 32-33.50; 800-950 lbs 31-32.50; good and choice 825-1,000 lbs 30.50-31.50; good thin 300-500 lbs 33.50-36.50; 500-700 lbs 31.50-34; good fleshy 600-950 lbs 28.50-31.50; choice thin heifer calves 300-350 lbs 35-37; 350-400 lbs 33.50-35; 400-500 lbs 31-33.50; 475-575 lbs 31-32.

Direct Cattle Sales

Omaha (AP) (USDA) — Direct Cattle Market Thursday: Sales were confirmed on 5,100 head of slaughter steers and heifers sold direct from feedlots in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska as compared to 6,900 head sold during the same period a week ago. About 65% of the confirmed volume sold delivered alive, the balance sold on a carcass basis.

Slaughter steers and heifers sold delivered alive to packing plants with weighing conditions equivalent to 3% shrink at the feedlots were steady. Steers choice and prime 1,100-1,500 lbs 33-33.75; choice 1,000-1,250 lbs 32.50-33.25; few loads 32.25-32.50; good 1,200-1,350 lb Holsteins 27.50-28.25, some good-choice 28.35-28.75. Choice heifers 875-1,050 lbs 32-32.75. On a dressed basis steers and heifers steady, instances 50 lower. Weight only-steers high-good to prime 500-900 lbs 51.50-52.50, mostly under 520 heifers good to mostly choice 500-700 lbs 51-51.50, some to 52. Dressed prices based on hot weights.

Commodities Close Higher

Chicago (AP) — Commodity futures prices gyrated rather uncertainly through most of the session on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday, then closed mostly higher.

The apparent nervousness of the trade was laid directly to uncertaintty concerning some European currencies and their possible effects on exports of agricultural products from the United States to Europe.

The previous session, soybeans closed nearly 5 cents a bushel higher, while wheat futures advanced 2¼ cents and corn 1 cent. On Thursday's opening, all three commodities were under heavy selling pressure.

Trade thinking was that with revaluation of the West German mark still in doubt along with the future of some other European currencies, local futures should be sold for profit or speculatively. Soybeans descended some 2 cents, wheat and corn around 1 cent.

At the close, soybeans were unchanged 1⅞ cents a bushel higher, May 2.96¾; wheat was 2 cents lower in the nearby May option to 1¼ higher, May 1.58½; corn was ½ to 2 cents higher, May 1.45; and oats were ⅜ to ⅞ higher, May 68⅛.

Boy, 13, Assumes Undercover Role In Drug Buying

Omaha (AP) — A 13-year-old junior high school boy in Omaha took on the role of an undercover agent to purchase a hallucinogenic drug from another 13-year-old in Omaha.

School authorities notified the police, the alleged seller was arrested — and the "undercover agent" got a lecture from Patrolman Melvin Berney.

Lt. Eugene Stack, head of the vice unit, commented: "We don't recommend self-appointed undercover agents."

ORDINANCE NO. 10148

AN ORDINANCE accepting and approving the plat of PINE LAKE 4th ADDITION, as an addition within three miles of the corporate limits of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, filed in the office of the Planning Department of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska upon certain terms and conditions herein specified; and declaring an emergency.

WHEREAS, Pine Lake Corporation, a corporation, owner of two parcels of land situated in the Southeast Quarter of Section 15, Township 9 North, Range 7 East of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Lancaster County, Nebraska, the northern most parcel described as follows:

Beginning at the eastern most corner of Lot 103, Pine Lake Second Addition and extending south 41 degrees 40½ minutes east 9.7 feet; thence north 37 degrees 28 minutes east 60.0 feet; thence north 41 degrees 40½ minutes west 149.7 feet; thence north 48 degrees 19½ minutes east 30.2 feet to the point of curvature; thence along a circular curve to the left having a central angle of 70 degrees 33 minutes, radius of 199.94 feet, tangent of 141.2 feet; and an arc length of 245.8 feet to the point of tangency; thence north 22 degrees 13½ minutes west 19.8 feet; thence north 67 degrees 46½ minutes east 180.0 feet; thence south 4 degrees degrees 00 minutes east 301.6 feet; thence south 47 degrees 28 minutes west 70.2 feet; thence south 4 degrees 25 minutes east 294.2 feet; thence south 30 degrees 53 minutes east 206.5 feet; thence south 1 degree 49 minutes east 20.0 feet; thence south 29 degrees 15 minutes west 198.4 feet; thence south 84 degrees 53 minutes west 203.1 feet; thence north 39 degrees 16 minutes west 163.2 feet; thence north 38 degrees 20 minutes west 299.5 feet; thence north 48 degrees 12 minutes east 143.0 feet to the point of beginning; and the southern most parcel described as follows:

Beginning at the southwest corner of Lot 71, Pine Lake Second Addition and extending north 76 degrees 13 minutes east 140.8 feet; thence south 11 degrees 11 minutes east 280.2 feet; thence south 89 degrees 48 minutes east 350.0 feet; thence south 0 degrees 15 minutes west 183.0 feet; thence north 89 degrees 48 minutes west 473.3 feet; thence north 0 degrees 02 minutes east 33.0 feet to the point of curvature; thence along a circular curve to the left having a central angle of 13 degrees 49 minutes, radius of 995.66 feet, tangent of 120.6 feet, and an arc length of 240.1 feet to the point of tengency; thence north 13 degrees 47 minutes west 157.8 feet to the point of beginning; has platted said real estate under the designation of PINE LAKE 4th ADDITION, and has filed said plat in the office of the Planning Department of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, with a request for approval and acceptance thereof in the manner and form as by ordinance required; and

WHEREAS, it is for the convenience of the inhabitants of said City of Lincoln, Nebraska and for the public that said plat be approved and accepted as filed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska:

Section 1. That the grades of certain streets in Pine Lake 4th Addition, as an addition within three miles of the corporate limits of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, be and they hereby are established with reference to a datum place, which is located as follows: Bench mark cut in water table at the northeast corner of the City Hall Building (at 10th and "O" Streets) is 79.94 feet above datum plane.

The grades hereby established shall be uniform straight lines between adjacent points hereinafter specified in said streets and between the grade points heretofore established by ordinance in adjacent streets.

Section 2. Grade at a point in Perry Circle 100 feet south of the south line of Eastshore Drive: east side 50.0, west side 50.0; provided, however, that the grades established in this section shall be considered as points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 100 feet long.

Section 3. Grade at a point in Perry Circle 450 feet south of the south line of Eastshore Drive: East side 71.0, west side 71.0; provided, however, that the grades established in this section shall be considered as points of intersection of tangents to vertical curves 100 feet long.

Section 5. That the plat of Pine Lake 4th Addition, filed in the office of the Planning Department of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, by Pine Lake Corporation, a corporation, as owner, be and it hereby is accepted and approved, and said owner be and it hereby is given the right to plat said Pine Lake 4th Addition, as an addition within three miles of the corporate limits of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, in accordance therewith. Such acceptance and approval are conditioned upon the following:

First: That the owner above set forth shall at its own cost and expense, pay for all labor, materials, engineering and inspection costs in connection with street grading within the plat, and that said owner shall bring the streets within the plat to the officially established grades therefor as set forth hereinabove; and that at such time as said streets shall be paved, the paving shall be constructed to City of Lincoln Standard Specifications, shall be of a thickness and width approved by the City Director of Public Works and shall be constructed under the supervision of the City Public Works Department.

Second: That within the plat of Pine Lake 4th Addition the installation of a water supply system and sewage disposal system shall be subject to and bound by the terms and conditions of the Agreement entered into on September 5, 1961, by and between Pine Lake Corporation, Pine Lake Association, and the City of Lincoln; provided, however, the installation of such private water supply system and private sewage disposal system shall also be subject to approval of the City Director of Public Works.

Section 6. On or before the effective date of this ordinance, the owner shall file a certified copy of the same in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lancaster County, Nebraska.

Section 7. Whereas an emergency exists, this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Eleven NU Students To Study In France

Eleven students at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln are among 50 students from the Midwest who will study French first hand next year at the University of Bordeaux, France.

They are Beth Bunker of Oklahoma City, Marie Chevrier of Humphrey, Michele Daggett of Mitchell, Patricia Dye of Omaha, Kathryn Mueller of Lincoln, Karen Nixley of North Platte, Philip Owen of Lincoln, Cynthia Piskorski of North Platte, Darcy Smith of Primghar, Iowa, Deborah Wheeler of Lincoln, and Catherine Sullivan of Ponca.

The study abroad program — sponsored by the Universities of Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska —allows juniors and seniors to take a full year of resident credit at Bordeaux, according to Mrs. Raymond Dein, NU associate professor of Romance languages.

Interested students must complete four college semesters of French with a cumulative grade average of B or better as the minimum language requirement. The program is not limited to French majors. This year there are four psychology majors and one social studies major taking part.

Art On Display At Kimball Hall

Paintings, sculpture, prints and photography done by the art department's studio staff at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, went on display Thursday in the lower level lounge of the new Kimball Recital Hall.

The pieces are on display in connection with the dedication of Kimball, according to Douglas Ross, assistant professor of art and the art department's exhibition chairman.

Good lawns don't just happen They are Made!

is Scotts special new fertilizer for use when planting grass seed. Its root-building formual hastens maturity of seedling grass. Lets you go from bare soil to a useable lawn in less time. H-P Fertilizer helps you get the best possible results from your grass seed dollar — both in bare ground seedings and "over-seedings" into established turf.

5,000 sq ft bag (20 lbs) 5.45

is Scotts solution to the mud and dust problem facing new homeowners. It contains 10 seeds of Windsor Kentucky bluegrass for every one seed of annual ryegrass. The ryegrass developes quickly and solves the mud and dust problem. The somewhat slower-developing Windsor takes over as the temporary ryegrass fades away.

Are you ready to stop weeds when they arrive?

All it takes is Scotts PLUS-2. You spread it on your lawn any time after dandelions are in full bloom. It makes them, and most other non-grass weeds, curl up and disappear—roots and all. PLUS-2 provides a full feeding of Turf Builder at the same time. Makes good grass fill in where the weeds were.

Yellow grass?

That's where Scott's new Iron-S comes in. It supplies the plant available iron that is necessary for good green color. Iron-S is not a substitute for fertilizer. It is an iron supplement that, when used with fertilizer, helps yellowing grass turn green again. See for yourself—this week.
